HOUSE CUTS THE SALARIES OF MEN IN LAW OFFICE

The Attorney General Suffers as Do Deputy and the Sheriffs.

It was a case of marching down the hill and up again in the House yesterday morning, though the marchers did not reach the top of the hill, and the salary of the Attorney General, which was at the close up remained a considerable distance off the summit, when the legislators had done with consideration of it.

The lower body began with consideration of the salary bill, to cover the six months' period, and there was a hammer and anvil club organized as soon as Chairman Greenwell took the chair and called for the reading of the bill. Attorney General Andrews was cut down in salary from $2,250 for the six months to $2,000, the deputy reduced and the assistant cut out, and then the work went along right merrily with other officers.

After lunch hour the members seemed to have seen a great white light, and the assistant was put back in the bill and the Attorney General was made the subject of new consideration. But the second state of that man was worse than the first. When Kumalae got through, and Greenwell had stated the question well before the members, the price for the office was put at $1,800 and there it remained. There was cutting along the line and adjournment was had for pay of police had been referred to various island members.

During the brief session of the Senate, good progress was made with the eighteen months' appropriations. It would have been concluded on second reading but for the caution exercised in referring the Board of Health items to the same special committee as had reported upon that body's supplies in the six months' bill. Senator Dickey's effort to territorialize the band led to the item for that institution being also committed. It looked ominous for Captain Berger's command just a minute, but the country members may come to the question next time with more music in their souls. The ruling out of order of the Molokai visitation joint resolution was another episode in the Senate's transactions.

IN THE HOUSE.

Vice-Speaker Knudsen opened the House a little late owing to the absence of Speaker Beckley who is a victim of the dengue.

From the Department of Public Works came a communication suggesting that the incidental fund be given an emergency addition, as there is now a shortage of $339.97 in it. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

Kealawa presented a resolution asking for an appropriation of $3000 for homestead roads in Puna, referred to the Hawaii committee.

Before the House went into committee of the whole Kellinot wanted to know about the House expense bill which came from the Senate with amendments, and it was found that the Speaker had the measure in his desk.

SALARIES ARE CUT.

The House then went into committee of the whole house on the six months' salary bill. The Attorney-General's Department came first. The Attorney-General's salary was cut from $2,250 to $2,000; that of the Deputy Attorney-General to $1,250 from $1,500, and then the Assistant Attorney-General was cut out of the bill entirely, by a large majority. The stenographer item caused a row. An attack was made by Kumalae who wanted to have the salary cut to $450, and he suggested that there should be no more paid than is put down in the other offices. The item finally passed at $600 on motion of Kalama. Wright proposed an amendment that the stenographer must be a voter, but he got only a few votes, the plan being smothered.

The Sheriff's office prospered, the Deputy High Sheriff being given a clerk at $100 a month. An attempt was made to cut the jailor's salary from $1000 to $750, which failed. Kalama proposed a salary for the deputy jailor at Oahu Prison, $750, which was adopted. On motion of Andrade the vote on the Assistant Attorney-General was reconsidered and the item was then passed as in the bill. Pulaa, telling of the hard work in the Attorney-General's office, moved to reconsider the item for his salary. This was done and a long debate followed, all kinds of arguments over salaries being pressed, figures from the mainland being quoted, and much heat displayed, but the committee rose and the House went into recess without action.

TO CONFER ON EXPENSES.

When the House reconvened the first business was the reading of a communication from the Senate announcing that the following conference committee had been appointed to consider the differences between the houses on House Bill No. 4, the journal printing bill: Messrs. Isenberg, Achi and J. T. Brown.

Senate Bill No. 11, appropriating money for the immediate use of the Treasury Department, was received by the House and passed on third reading.

Kealawa presented a resolution directing the Police Committee to inquire into the action of certain members of the House in Kukui street on Saturday last, the object being to get a joke on certain members who use that thoroughfare to reach the theater. It was ruled out of order.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S SALARY.

The House then resumed consideration of the salaries bill. Paele moved to cut it to $1500, which was lost by twenty to four. The motion then came on the Fernandez amendment to reduce to $2,000 on which the vote was: ayes 11, noes 12, and the roll was then called on the motion that the item pass as in the bill. Kumalae interrupted to move to amend by placing the salary at $1,800.

When this was ruled out of order, after a debate which engrossed the parliamentarians and caused some caustic comment. Kumalae maintained that the chairman was ruling arbitrarily and Paele, Kuphea and others took part. Kumalae insisted that Pulaa had voted with the minority and demanded to know how he voted. The roll call was again ordered but Kumalae interrupted to say that if the chair continued to rule contrary to the rules he would resign and give his reasons for resigning too. The roll call resulted: ayes 10, noes 13.

This left no item of salary for the Attorney-General and Kumalae again moved to insert it at $1,800 for the six months. He argued at length as to advisability of reducing pay, followed by Fernandez who cited the rates paid in mainland states and territories, the amendment prevailing.

SHERIFFS' SALARIES SUFFER.

The salary of the Sheriff of Hawaii was cut from $1200 to $1000, without debate, but the Maui men objected to the reduction of their Sheriff to the same basis. Kaniho renewed his argument for economy. Pail protested against the cut, saying that the Hawaii members had criticized their Sheriff, and consequently it was all right to cut his salary, but the Sheriff of Maui is a good man. Kalama laid stress upon the necessity to give good salaries to Sheriffs, for attempts to in-

TRANSITION PERIOD IS DECLARED TO BE LEGAL

The United States Supreme Court, by a Vote of Five to Four, Sustains the Contention of Territory in Mankichi Case.

(SPECIAL CABLEGRAM TO THE ADVERTISER.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—The United States Supreme Court has sustained the conviction of Osaki Mankichi, a Hawaiian transition period case, by a vote of five to four.

E. G. WALKER.

The Osaki Mankichi case has a long history. In the interval between the passage of the resolution of annexation in 1898 and the Organic Act creating the Territory of Hawaii, a Japanese named Osaki Mankichi was brought to trial for murder on information filed by a local judge. He was convicted by the vote of nine of his twelve jurors and sentenced to twenty years, the Hawaiian law, even in capital cases, accepting such a verdict as equally potent with a unanimous finding. Appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of Hawaii on habeas corpus after the Organic Act went into effect on the ground that the fifth and sixth amendments to the Constitution of the United States became operative in Hawaii, ex proprio vigore, as soon as annexation was perfected by the resolution of 1898. The fifth amendment to the Constitution provides for indictment by a grand jury, and the sixth for trial by a jury, and previously to the trial of this case the United States Supreme Court had held that a federal jury must be a common-law jury of twelve members, all of whom must agree in order to convict.

The Osaki Mankichi case came up originally after the conviction, by an application for a writ of habeas corpus which Judge Gear granted and released the murder. He was immediately rearrested, though Gear denied the right of the Territory to appeal. Half a dozen other criminals who were sentenced during the transition period were also released. Finally the Supreme Court here decided that Osaki was legally convicted, Justice Galbraith dissenting. Then a second writ of habeas corpus was applied for before Gear, and he again released him. Again he was arrested outside the prison door, and Gear threatened Dole and Cathcart with contempt proceedings. Other prisoners were given the same treatment, but Dole continued to have the men arrested as fast as Gear released them, the circuit judge refusing to pay any attention to the ruling of the appellate court.

Finally Mankichi's attorneys sued out a writ of habeas corpus before Judge Estee, and he was again ordered released. Unlike Gear, however, when the appeal was taken the United States court fixed a bond for the Japanese and he was unable to furnish the necessary $5,000. It was from this decision of Judge Estee that the Territory appealed to the United States Supreme Court, and the brief cablegram would indicate that Estee had been reversed, which means a victory for the Hawaiian Supreme Court and the Territorial government.

fluence them by gambling huls were many and they should be protected by having sufficient salaries. On the motion the ayes were 14 to 10 noes. The Kauai Sheriff was likewise reduced to $1000.

The clerk to the Sheriff of Hawaii was cut from $750 to $600 but this seemed to satisfy the axmen for a time. When the salary of the South Kona Deputy Sheriff was reached it was Kaniho who moved to increase the amount to $600 instead of $500. There was a laugh when he urged the change but the House would not change it.

PAY OF POLICE REFERRED.

When the pay of police of Hawaii, $18,750, was reached it was suggested that it be referred to a committee made up of the members from Hawaii, which drew out some argument. Some members thought the committees should be general, arguing that the men from the various islands might increase the appropriations, but the general idea was that each island should have a committee formed of the members from that island to arrange the appropriations from each. The members were generally of opinion that there should be specification of salaries in the bill. Pulaa's plan that the item be referred to a special committee of eight, from all the islands, was lost and the question came on the plan to refer to a committee composed of the members

THE TRANSITION FIGHT.

During the exciting fight over these transition cases the feeling almost approached a state of anarchy in the courts. Attorney General Dole was repeatedly threatened with contempt, and openly insulted by the court, and all his arguments, which are now sustained by the highest court in the land, were treated with derision. Gear threatened Dole for contempt for his action in rearresting the desperate men after they were released, and when finally under his threat of releasing all of these men, which he held to be illegally confined, the Attorney General was forced to present the cases before a special grand jury, and they were all indicted again. Then because of the appeal Dole declined to proceed with the trial of these men, but again Gear forced matters and with a high hand, himself called a jury and went through the form of trial which resulted in the discharge of all the Kahuku murderers, but they were immediately rearrested.

In the case of George Wade who had killed Steward Gillespie of the Australia he forced a trial also, and Wade was convicted of another offense, the shooting of Evans. Gear gave him the lowest sentence possible, ten years, which he is now serving. He will also now have to serve the sentence for killing Gillespie, which Gear declared illegal.

Only a few of the transition period prisoners secured their release, as it was impossible in some of the cases to secure evidence after the lapse of three years. Osaki Mankichi, the man whose case was carried to the Supreme Court is still in prison. He was one of the Kahuku rioters, and is serving a twenty years' sentence.

Brooks and Davis were his attorneys here, but the case was fought at Washington by Coudert the famous New York attorney who was engaged by amendments at New York, whose interests in the Philippines were involved in this case. To ex-Deputy Attorney General Cathcart as well as E. P. Dole much of the credit for the long and bitter fight in the local courts is due.

SAVES THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

"The decision is very fortunate for the Territory" said Attorney General Andrews yesterday when shown the cablegram. "It will mean the saving of thousands of dollars, for if the Supreme Court had taken the opposite view some twenty or more criminals would have to be given another trial. I presume the decision means that the trials already held were legal as held by the Territorial Supreme Court. Great credit is due to Mr. Dole and Mr. Cathcart for the success."

from the island of Hawaii, which was carried.

The committee then rose and the House adjourned.

IN THE SENATE.

Senator J. T. Brown presented a joint resolution, that, whereas the fish market at Waiakae, Hilo, is being carried on by a few individuals for their own private benefit, the Board of Health be requested to order such market closed.

President Crabbe was sorry to inform the member for Hawaii that the resolution was entirely out of order, the present session of the Legislature having been called entirely for the purpose of passing appropriation bills.

Senator Brown withdrew the resolution, saying he had felt bound to introduce it on account of a numerous signed petition from Hilo. Senator Isenberg advised the member to see the president of the Board of Health about the matter.

HOUSE DENIES CONCURRENCE.

A message from the House of Representatives stated that it did not concur in the Senate amendments to the bill appropriating $7,000 for unpaid bills of the regular session of the House. It asked for a conference, naming Representatives Fernandez, Harris and Aylett as House conferees. President

DISEASE COMES AFTER THE GREAT INUNDATION

Diphtheria, Fever, Measles and Hunger Add to the Horrors of the Situation.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLEGRAMS.)

BOZEMAN, Mt., June 1.—The rivers are steadily rising.

KANSAS CITY, Kas., June 1.—Twenty are known to be dead here as a result of the floods.

MANHATTAN, Kas., June 1.—This town was the center of the flood's fury. Fifty persons have been drowned.

TOPEKA, Kas., June 1.—The river is subsiding. Thirty-four are known to be dead. Many persons are huddled in small houses, suffering from diphtheria, fever, measles and a scarcity of food. Launches and rafts have arrived from Chicago.

GAMESVILLE, Kas., June 1.—Two hundred buildings here were demolished by the flood.

VICTORIAN PREMIER IS DISMISSED FROM OFFICE

VICTORIA, June 1.—Premier Prior has been dismissed from his office owing to the bridge-contract scandal. Richard McBride has formed a new ministry.

Premier Prior's cabinet has been in trouble for some time over bridge contracts that were let to political bosses and the land grants made to the Canadian Pacific Railway. The opposition charged that these contracts and grants were made by the whole cabinet and the latter claimed that only the Commissioner of Lands was responsible for the trouble and that he had acted without consulting the cabinet.

Arizona Labor Troubles.

PRESCOTT, A. T. June 1.—The eight-hour law having become effective in the Territory wage-reductions have been made and many properties are closing. The miners are in a threatening mood.

Clark's Railroad Branches Out.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 1.—Senator Clark's railroad company will probably build a branch to Tonopah.

The Rush for Nome.

SEATTLE, June 1.—One thousand persons sailed for Cape Nome today in three steamers. Hundreds were unable to get passage.

President at a Show.

CHEYENNE, June 1.—President Roosevelt attended the Wild West exhibition today.

Hermann Back in Congress.

PORTLAND, June 1.—Beriger Hermann has been elected to Congress.

Small Pox at Salt Lake.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 1.—There are fifty smallpox cases here.

SAIGON, Cochinchina, June 1.—A serious rebellion has broken out here. The French subjects are imperilled.

GAINESVILLE, Ala., June 1.—Two hundred persons were killed in a tornado that swept over this section.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 1.—The flood situation in this vicinity is improving. The waters are receding and the critical period seems to have passed. Twenty additional deaths from drowning were reported this morning.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 1.—The Mississippi river is nearing the danger line along the St. Louis front. Timely measures are being adopted to move the population from threatened sections of the city.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 1.—President Roosevelt this morning tendered the aid of the Government to the authorities of States in the flooded districts. This action was taken by the President previous to his taking the train homeward bound to Washington.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., June 1.—The latest report from the region of the flood disasters in Kansas give 200 persons drowned, four bridges swept away and 20,000 persons driven from their homes. It is feared that the worst has yet to be told, as all avenues of communication are blocked, making it impossible to get a complete census of the situation. State and municipal authorities are using every possible means in their power to render relief.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 1.—The Des Moines River is falling, and as regards danger from the flood the worst seems to have passed. The condition among the refugees, however, is most pitiable. Cold weather following the rains is causing intense suffering among those people who are necessarily poorly housed and in many instances without proper clothing. It is feared the death list from exposure will be as large as that from drowning in the flood.

SENATE DISCUSSES COUNTY'S SHARES OF THE EXPENSE BILL

What Shall Be Covered in Eighteen Months Measure Occupies Attention—House Does Little Work.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

The House yesterday undertook to reconsider its action as to Hawaii police, and ended by making an appropriation of $1,674, for the refund of telephone rentals, the amounts to be certified by Sheriff Andrews.

There was a long debate over the appropriation of $1,020, for the payment of guards on Molokai, during the plague, there being shown much opposition as the citizens of other islands did similar and as hard work and made no charge. The item was not finished when the committee rose for lunch hour, and there was no afternoon session, as the death of the brother of Representative Kumalae caused quick adjournment.

The Senate considered the counties end of the appropriations in the eighteen months' bill, setting out the items which must be chargeable to the counties as against the Territorial expenses. The House passed its expense bill and the Senate advanced it as well. Both houses adjourned. Both Houses adjourned until Monday.

IN THE HOUSE.

Under suspension of the rules House Bill No. 5, the expense bill properly drawn, was passed finally by 27 to 2. Pulaa and Paele voting against the bill. J. D. McVeigh memorialized the Legislature suggesting that each member of the House contribute 50 cents for a purse for the races to be known as the legislative purse. The House cheerfully made up a purse of $17.45 which will be sent to Molokai.

Nakaleka introduced a resolution asking for the appropriation of $1500.00 to pay for palia refused landing at Kalaupapa. The matter was referred to a special committee consisting of Harris, Nakaleka and Hala.

The House went into committee of the whole on Senate Bill No. 4, the unpaid bills measure, and Kuphea was called to the chair.

Vida began to work by moving the insertion of $1800 for the unpaid bills of the Police Department, he saying that the money was very much needed, as the six months bill does not carry sufficient amount to permit the work to go on properly. The item was inserted in the bill.

HAWAII POLICE ONCE MORE.

On motion of Pulaa, the item for reimbursement of police of Hawaii, $1344, passed yesterday, was reconsidered. He said there were many officers not included in the list as put in yesterday. North Kohala men being omitted. The additions made the total $1674. Kanio thought the reimbursement should cover the entire period covered by the last appropriation bill, and he moved that a special committee be appointed to investigate the entire amount of the deductions. Fernandez thought there should be a full list secured from the Sheriff of Hawaii. Chillingworth opposed this saying the bill under consideration was almost finished and it would mean a great loss of time. He thought the easiest plan was to strike out the item and when the information was secured then a separate bill might be put through.

Kalama said during the regular session a subsidy had been passed for the wireless telegraph and he thought the proper thing was to depend on the wireless and have the information by Monday. Chillingworth called his attention to the fact that the subsidy would not be operative until Kama was in connection with Oahu.

NOT REALLY UNPAID BILL.

Andrade called attention to the fact that the item was not strictly an unpaid bill and the point might be against it that it could not be collected, as the warrants were properly drawn and recaptured.

Kanio insisted that there should be consideration given to all those whose salaries were docked, and he thought $3,000 might well be appropriated in a lump sum to pay all claims. The discussion became general but not strictly coherent. Vida finally moved to change the wording so that the appropriation would be $1674 for pay of telephones used by the police, amounts advanced by the following persons, to be certified by the Sheriff of Hawaii. In this form the item passed.

FOR PLAGUE SUPPLIES.

Chillingworth moved to insert under the head of the Department of Public Works an item of $72.50 for the estate of L. G. Camarinos. The item was for supplies furnished to detention camps, and Chillingworth said they were not paid because Theodore Richards would not O. K. all the bills as some were delivered to camps where were Hawaiians, while he was in charge of Japanese.

FOR MOLOKAI PLAGUE GUARDS.

Kanio moved to insert an item of $1020 for pay guards at Molokai, during plague times. He said the guards were appointed by the agent of the Board of Health after a mass meeting. Fernandez suggested a special committee and then Harris declared that there was no authority for the employment of those men, and that if the Molokai men were not more worthy of pay than the guards on all other islands.

Gandall told how the people of Kaula got out and guarded that island, the rich and poor alike working to protect the island from the dreaded disease. He said this was the duty of all good citizens at all times. He told how the people met at Lihue and orders were issued protecting the islands from the coming of infected laborers. He cited instances of the way in which the people worked to keep that island clean and closed by declaring that it was the patriotic duty of every citizen to do all in his power to protect his home from epidemic. The committee then rose and the House took a recess.

Immediately upon the reconvening of the House Kuphea introduced the following resolution:

Resolved, That as a mark of respect to the late brother of the Hon. Jonah Kumalae, the House of Representatives do now adjourn.

Harris suggested that there was important business before the House but upon the statement being made that the funeral would occur this afternoon, there was no further comment and the adjournment that the House adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock was added and the resolution adopted.

IN THE SENATE.

Senator Achi presented a majority report of the committee which considered the eighteen months' bills recommending that the county items including courts, sewers, etc., be stricken out. The item of $28,800 for incidentals, criminal and civil cases was reduced to $25,000. The report was laid on the table to be considered with the bill.

Action was deferred on the House $13,000 expense bill until the House bill reached the Senate.

THE PRINTING STALE AGAIN.

The bill to appropriate $7,000 for paying the expenses of printing the House Journal passed third reading 9 to 3, but not until after there had been some pretty plain speaking over the absurdity of letting a contract for $210 when the same work could be done for $138 per page.

Senator McCandless started the row with an amendment to the bill providing that the journal was "not to cost more than $138 per page. He said that the contract in the House had not been let open and above-board and that it made no difference what the House had done, it still required the approval of the Senate. When the House passed appropriation bills the Senate made changes and vice versa, and he thought it all nonsense that the Senate couldn't amend this bill, simply because it was for the expenses of the House. "We can't shovel out the people's money at the rate of seventy-two cents a page," said he. "If we pass this bill everyone will have a right to say that we had been putting the money into someone's pocket."

Achi on the defense. Senator Achi inquired about the pay of the House officers being more than in the Senate, and McCandless replied that he had nothing to do with the way the $40,000 which was appropriated in a lump sum was spent, but this was a specific item upon which the Senate had been fully informed. He for one intended to record his vote against it. Senator Achi interrupted to say again that the House officials had worked for thirty men, while the Senate had but fifteen members.

UGHT TO ADVERTISE.

Senator McCandless also called attention to the fact that the Senate had previously decided to vote $18,000 and now it was proposed to vote $20,000 in two sums. He also said that the law for government officials provided that all contracts above $500 must be let only after tenders had been advertised for, and he saw no reason why the legislature should depart from that rule. "The Senate advertised for bids," he said, "and got their Journal printed for $138 per page by while the House let its contract in a secret method. It wasn't open and above board, and they want to pay $210 per page."

Senator Dickey offered an amendment providing that the contract should be let only after tenders had been called for and then given to the lowest responsible bidder, and McCandless accepted the amendment. Dickey said he did not wish to hamper the House, and they might not receive as low a bid as $138. "Every cent we give more than they should spend is simply throwing away the people's money," said Dickey. "Must we give the House $100,000 if they ask for it, whether we want to or not? I say that the Senate has as much right to amend this bill, as we have to amend a bill concerning the Board of Health. If they made it ten dollars a page would you say we didn't have a right to amend it. Just as much right as the governor has to veto a bill. I hold that the contract was not properly given, that proper

TRUTH CONCERNING THE SHERIFF OF HAWAII

In the wrangle in the House the other day over Sheriff Andrews of Hawaii, during which the statement was made that the Sheriff deducted from the pay of the police for their uniforms and equipments, as well as for the use of the telephones with which each officer's house is furnished, the members lost sight of a few of the facts which tell a different story.

During the session of the first Territorial legislature the incidental fund of the Attorney General's department was cut down $10,000. That meant that many expenses of the police department heretofore paid from this appropriation had to be met in other ways, and the result was that telephone rents, uniform expenses, and other incidentals, were deducted from the pay of police officers.

On the island of Hawaii the police officers are widely scattered and it is necessary that they be connected with the Sheriff's office by telephone. The rent of these telephones amounts to $5 per month, and there are about thirty such 'phones in use on Hawaii. In order to meet this expense which, prior to the reduction in the Attorney General's incidental fund had been paid therefrom, the Sheriff increased the pay of the officers $5 a month reducing the number of officers in doing so, and deducted that amount from their salary to pay the rent of the telephones promptly with the end of each month.

Another expense that had been paid out of the appropriation for the Attorney General's department was the matter of equipment consisting of buttons, hats, leggings, belts, clubs, handcuffs and uniforms. The Sheriff, in order to insure the men having uniforms and equipments of a standard style, has deducted $5 a month from each officer's pay, the result being that the materials for uniforms, caps, leggings, etc., are purchased at wholesale rates, whereby the officers are furnished with a better outfit of a regulation style, and at less cost than if they were allowed to furnish the same themselves wherever and whenever they could.

None of the officials favor the present system of deducting officer's pay, but it seemed necessary under the circumstances. Both the Sheriff of Hawaii and High Sheriff Brown preferred the money to be paid from the incidental appropriation, and Sheriff Andrews in his last report to the Attorney General asked that the appropriation be increased in order that these items might be paid from this appropriation. As a matter of fact, the legislature has appropriated a larger incidental fund with a view that these officers might be paid from that appropriation.

Sheriff Andrews is regarded amongst those who have had any connection with the police and Attorney General's department as a man of honesty and one faithful in the performance of his duty. He has been with the police for eighteen years as Deputy Sheriff and Sheriff and for two years was the senior captain of police at Honolulu.

Representative Fernandez, who participated in the grilling of Sheriff Andrews, was formerly a police officer in the ranks and was advanced steadily by Sheriff Andrews along the various grades, until the Deputy Sheriff in his district went to Hilo, when the Sheriff appointed him to the position thus made vacant.

notice was not given, which is shown by there being but one bid.

"How do you know?" asked Isenberg.

"If bids were called for, they never got any such results as the Senate did, and I challenge anyone to say that the House did advertise for bids, if they had, the sin would not have been so great."

Isenberg subsided. Senator Dickey said he didn't believe in paying $210 when the work could be done for $138 nor did he believe in allowing $1,750 for translating. He said he knew a first class translator who had offered to do the work for $1,000 and yet the House intended to let it out at $2,600.

LOAN BILL AS A THREAT.

Senator Achi said the fight was all over fourteen dollars, figuring out that with the amount the committee had cut from the translating bill the saving would only be that amount. He said it would hurt the country if the bill was not passed for the House wouldn't work any longer. He said the House would refuse to pass the loan bill and he didn't want to sacrifice $2,500,000 for the sake of fourteen dollars.

"You are willing to sacrifice principle for policy?" asked McCandless. "My principle is to get the $2,500,000 and not to save only $14," was the reply.

PARIS AGAINST IT.

Senator Paris stated that he didn't object to the passage of a lump sum for expenses, which the House spent as it pleased, but he did object to giving the House money to pay $2.38 per page for work which could be done for $1.38. "The Senate should assert its rights," he said, "and save the people this money. There is no more reason why the House should throw away money to certain people whom they wish to favor, than to say that a government official should do it. As far as the loan bill in the House is concerned, if it is a fact that they, from spite against a few Senators should see fit to injure the whole people from Hawaii to Kaula, I say they are not fit to be representatives. But I don't believe the House will do any such thing, and some of the members will uphold us in our action here. I for one won't vote for the bill."

Senator Achi insisted that the action of the Senate would force the House to cancel a contract which it had no right to do.

Senator Paris replied that no prudent business man would make a contract when they hadn't the money to pay it.

Achi said the Hackfeld wharf contract was just the same and had to be carried out, to which Paris replied that if the Legislature saw fit to repudiate the contract it would not be binding.

Senator J. T. Brown moved that the bill pass. Senator Dickey wanted to correct Achi's statement about the saving of fourteen dollars, and said that the saving on printing alone would be $1,728 while on translating there could be another saving of $700.

President Crabbe inquired whether the Bulletin really had a contract, Achi said they had, and were already doing the work. McCandless stated that it was the duty of the committee to bring a copy of the contract up for the inspection of the Senate, so they might be informed, whether the book was to be printed in gold letters or not.

Senator Kaohi said there was no use in waiting until the milk had been spilled and then gathering up the remains. The contract had been awarded and he didn't see exactly what could be done. Senator McCandless replied that it

GEHR WILL PUSH THE KOHALA DITCH SCHEME TO THE FRONT AGAIN

Says He Is Ready to Bid for It at a Price That Would Yield His Backers Dividends.

(MAIL SPECIAL TO THE ADVERTISER.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 18.—Mr. A. C. Gehr, who has figured prominently here in the fight over Kohala Ditch legislation, came to town today, after quite a sojourn in Chicago. He is leaving for New York whence he will start very soon for Honolulu, probably arriving there on the Siberia. He intends to strive anew to have the license for constructing the Kohala Ditch put up at auction and declares that he is ready to bid for the privilege of constructing it.

"I know better than any other man what that Ditch would be worth as an investment and I am in a position to bid for the license intelligently. I know how much can be paid, so that the investment will yield a fair return," said Mr. Gehr. "I told the planters on the island last year when I was out there, that I was ready to go into the open market for the license. I would bid for it at a figure that would yield 5 1/2 per cent. on the investment and, having examined the project, I was better informed than any other man as to what that figure was. If anybody wanted to risk bidding higher than I, it would be their privilege."

Mr. Gehr is now confident that the Ditch will be constructed without much delay and, while he does not say so, has apparently received fresh assurances from the capitalists he represents as to what he may undertake. He is satisfied that there will be no further attempt by other interests to secure special legislation on the subject from Congress.

Mr. and Mrs. William Haywood are planning to close their I street residence in a few days and move to their summer home at Oakland, Md., which is at the top of the Alleghenies.

Officials at the Interior Department say there has been practically no business with the Territorial government, since the negotiations over the bonds was closed.

POPULISTS AND PRESIDENT.

In the Southwest there is something of a movement for the Populists, what there is left of them, to endorse President Roosevelt's nomination next year. The matter is not taken very seriously yet because it is thought there may be some clever politics back of it on the part of Mr. Roosevelt's opponents. However, the idea was sounded forth not long ago in a great New York organ. A prominent Kansas Populist and Socialist, former State Senator Edwin Taylor, of Edwardsville, has declared his intention to support Mr. Roosevelt next year. In that connection it is significant that United States Senator Harris, not many months ago, declared that if the Republicans should refuse to nominate Mr. Roosevelt in 1904 the Democrats might do worse than to nominate him on their own ticket.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY.

There has been a great deal of vice presidential talk in connection with the Republicans of late but the close friends of President Roosevelt here in Washington say that none of it has been of a very significant character as yet. In fact his friends have given little attention to that subject of late and probably will not for some time. If the Republicans show a tendency towards revision of tariff in the next campaign it is regarded as quite probable here that Gov. Cummins, of Iowa, will be a strong candidate. But when the time for the convention comes Gov. Cummins may not even be in the running.

HARDSHIP OF DISMISSALS.

A few instances have occurred here of late that emphasize the hardships which come from turning officials out of office. In the cleaning of the Treasury and the Postoffice Department, upon which task President Roosevelt set the heads of those departments before he left Washington, a number of incompetent or inefficient officials have had to step down. One man, who has been faithful to duty for many years but who was nevertheless found incapable of carrying out the duties of his office, was recently turned out with a sick family and, as in the case with most government officials, had nothing left for support, when his salary was cut off, it having taken all he could rake and scrape to keep his family going.

This in a small way is what happens whenever a new administration comes in. But when there is a change in politics of the administration the changes in offices are far more sweeping. It is believed that within the next six months there will be many more dismissals among subordinate officials for the President is determined that the public service shall be on the highest level of efficiency and honesty.

MRS. DESKY AND HER DAUGHTER INJURED

Charles S. Desky hopes to get away in the Korea for San Francisco to be with his wife and daughter in their affliction, both having been injured in an accident sustained while driving. The following clipping from the San Francisco Call tells the story:

LOS GATOS, May 18.—A most unfortunate accident happened yesterday on Union avenue. Mrs. C. S. Desky, Miss Florence Desky and Miss Holden were driving on the avenue when suddenly the horse became frightened at a paper carrier riding along on his wheel, and turned around so suddenly that the survey was overturned, the occupants being thrown to the ground. Much more serious trouble might have occurred had it not been for the presence of mind of Miss Holden, who was driving at the time. All were under the survey, but the lady held tightly to the reins, and as soon as possible the carrier jumped from his wheel and was at the frightened animal's head. As it was, the ladies were all hurt. Mrs. Desky's wrist was broken, and the severe fright has made her very nervous, as she was just recovering from a long illness. Miss Florence sustained a very bad fracture of the right arm, and Miss Holden was badly bruised and her ribs were fractured. Mrs. Desky is resting, and it is hoped that the shock will prove a severe setback. The horse is considered most gentle, but it is thought that the flying paper bags at the side of the carrier caused its fright.

CONTENDING CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST'S BREAK LOCKS

MAUI, May 30.—The Pauwela Christian Science Church (Hoomana Naauao) is in trouble again. Rev. Ele Kekipi, its pastor, had J. P. Kapipi, one of the leading members, arrested and tried for malicious injury before Magistrate Copp of Makawao on Friday, the 22nd, and on Tuesday, the 26th. On both occasions the case was thrown out of court because of the failure of the plaintiff to prove the malice necessary for conviction under the law.

After Rev. Ele Kekipi's trial in the district court of Honolulu a year or more ago, his parishioners at Pauwela, all except about ten of them, refused to follow his guidance, the remaining forty or fifty preferring the leadership of a layman, J. P. Kapipi. After holding a service in the church with his ten followers Kekipi, the Bishop Willis of Maui, would lock the door to keep the other faction out. Kapipi with his forty or fifty friends, believing they had a right also to worship in the building which for the most part their subscriptions had built, would break the lock and entering hold their meetings. This fastening of the church door by one party and breaking and entering by the other continued for some time until Deputy Sheriff Morton suggested that a lock be attached to the door with two keys, one of which Rev. Ele Kekipi should hold while J. P. Kapipi should possess the other. Peace prevailed for a time until Rev. Mr. Makalo of Lahaina was appointed by a Hilo convention to either reconcile the warring factions or excommunicate Kapipi. After attempting the former course in vain, he did the latter, but to no avail for Kapipi refused to be excommunicated and his neighbors supported him in his decision. They declared they liked Christian Science, but not its expounder, Rev. Ele Kekipi. They asked in vain for a new pastor. After the departure of Rev. Mr. Makalo, Kekipi placed a strong and expensive padlock on the church-door and refused to give Kapipi the key unless he would follow him (Kekipi). This the latter refused to do and broke the costly lock. Then it was that Kekipi sought and failed to have Kapipi punished for malicious injury.

VETERANS OF TWO WARS JOIN IN MEMORIAL DAY SERVICE

VETERANS of two wars joined with the general public yesterday morning in honoring the men who offered up their lives in the defense of the Union. A score of the veterans of the Grand Army participated in the Memorial Day Exercises yesterday, but the Camp McKinley Artillery and the Hawaiian National Guard, many of whose members fought in Cuba and the Philippines turned out in full force.

The service was solemn and impressive. From the moment the procession started from the corner of Beretania and Emma streets until the bugler sounded taps at the Nuanu cemetery the generous spirit of the occasion was manifest.

At the cemetery were gathered the people of many nations as well as those who were more or less interested in the special observance of Memorial Day, and all that the anniversary meant. By far the larger portion of the crowds at the cemetery were Hawaiians, and they showed their recognition of the spirit of the day by bedecking the graves of departed relatives with a liberal hand. Japanese and Chinese were present, as well as many American residents of the city, to whom the day has a special significance, and who bestowed their flowers upon the graves of the departed heroes.

THE PROCESSION.

The procession moved from the corner of Beretania and Emma streets a few minutes before 2:30 o'clock, and in charge of Chas. R. Frazier as marshal. A squad of police, mounted, was in the lead, and Captain Berger with the Territorial Band, followed. Then came the Sixty-sixth Company, United States Artillery from Camp McKinley, and the four companies of the National Guard. The artillery men wore their khaki uniforms, which contrasted effectively with the blue and red of the guardsmen. The soldiers were followed by the members of the Geo. W. De Long Post, in carryalls, and then came Governor Dole and his staff, the latter in uniform. The orator of the day, Walter G. Smith, President Crabbe of the Senate, Judge Estee and other federal officials were in carriages, and these were followed by a large number of private equipages. Arriving at the cemetery the guardsmen were halted at the entrance, and presented arms, while the artillerymen and Governor Dole with his staff entered.

AT THE CEMETERY.

At the small enclosure where lay buried the eighteen heroes who fought in the defense of the Union the artillerymen were drawn up at the right, while the band took place just within this line. On the left was formed the line of Grand Army men, barely more than a score, but these still showing that the forty years since the war had not rendered them helpless by any means. In truth some of the grizzled veterans looked as if they were as ready to respond to the country's call as in '61. Each veteran carried a bunch of flowers which was used in decorating the graves of their departed comrades.

Governor Dole, Judge Estee, President Crabbe of the Senate, Col. Soper, W. G. Smith, Secretary Carter, Marshal Hendry and Collector Stackable occupied seats facing the crowd, while chairs were also placed in the square for the accommodation of the many ladies present.

THE EXERCISES.

After a selection by the band the program was begun with the reading of the usual Grand Army ritual by Post Commander E. A. Strout. W. L. Eaton responded with the prayer, in the absence of L. L. La Pierre, the chaplain who is ill with dengue fever. Commander Strout continued the reading of the ritual and another selection by the band intervened before the oration which was as follows:

WALTER G. SMITH'S ADDRESS.
Commander of the Post, Veterans of the Civil War, Ladies and Gentlemen:

The thirtieth of May is the most impressive of American holidays because it is the most unselfish. Christmas and Thanksgiving bring us joy, the Fourth of July raises our pride, but Memorial Day receives our service. It is a time a sad arrest; a day when we make pause in sordid things and go among the graves to honor the dead of a war long past. For us are no gifts as in the Christmas tide, no homestead cheer as at Thanksgiving time, no fete of bells and guns and music as on the day that marks the nation's birth. It is ours instead to gather at the graves of men that few of us had ever known in life and place upon them flowers of red and white and blue, fit emblems of the flag in whose defense these martyrs fell; not asking, as a test of worth, whether the form beneath the sod was that of friend or stranger; whether the face was white or black; whether the voice commanded or the arm obeyed. It is enough for us to know that when the drums beat their long roll and the bugles rang their summons, these men were instant in the sacrifice. Standing in this presence and with these thoughts and amid these scenes, can any of us say that republics are ungrateful? Can we utter Hamlet's sneer, "How soon we are forgotten?" No, my friends, not more is measured here the strength of our democracy than is its pride in those who died for it in war or suffered for it anywhere. Nor is a single one forgotten. In a wide and special sense the grateful nation honors even—yes, honors best—the lowliest martyrdom. When a kingdom triumphs it raises bronze and marble to the princes and generals of war, or to patron saints or heathen gods, forgetting the humble soldier who bore the heat and burden of the battle. But in the republic there is no forgetfulness of any one, high or low, who gave his life that the nation might be saved. Here one finds the statue of the great commander, of the loyal public leader, but the monument seen everywhere in both North and South, the one most emblematic of the actors and the tragedy of Civil War, is that of the private soldier. In that stern and simple figure, without plume or epaulet, is proof of the republic's impartial gratitude; a gratitude which also shines in the beneficence of pensions and flows in the tide of a nation's sympathy on each Memorial day.

But after all, the heroes of the Civil War on either side need no shape, of granite nor of bronze to make their fame survive. Great deeds are more lasting than the rock. The monument reared to them receives more immortality than it confers. There was once a stone lion set up in the narrow pass where 300 Spartans fell in defence of native land. For twice a thousand years no lion has been there, but who has forgotten Leonidas of Thermopylae and his little band of fighting men? There is today a lion of stone on the field of Waterloo, but long after it shall have crumbled into dust, men will recall what happened there to make the lion typical. Bunker Hill needs no carved epitaph, nor does Gettysburg nor Appomattox. What was done there lives in history, in the pride of men, in the everlasting grip of English speech, in the common human love of great deeds and of brave men.

The full debt of America to you, veterans of the Civil War, has not yet been written on stone nor revealed by voice, nor inscribed by prophecy. No one has cast it up and no one can do so in this age. He must have a long perspective who sees the Civil War in all its phases; perhaps centuries will have to pass before the full meaning and effect of that conflict will appear. But a few things we may set down now in the record of your deeds which time is not needed to attest, and which have already fixed their place in history.

You saved the Union;
You saved the South from itself;
You saved the republican idea to humanity. This much is yours forever. In saving the Union you made possible the world power which the Union has become. You made it continental and the arbiter of this half of the globe. Its peaceful gain in wealth was greater in the twenty years succeeding Lee's surrender than in the previous eighty years; and that gain dates back, in large degree, to the feeling of business faith and national pride which your victories conferred. Out of the military virtues shown on both sides of the war has come a special and peculiar strength to the restored Union; and this has done much to raise the nation from the third to the first rank. The Union you preserved has become a more widespread and powerful state than was the empire of Julius Caesar.

You saved the South from itself. The Confederacy wagged its hope of life on the idea of secession, on the right of political suicide. The edifice of its civil power had a corner stone of dynamite, its frame work was of matchwood and its tenants had the vested right, if things went wrong, to set the place on fire. Had the South won, its victory would have spelled defeat; the Confederacy must have finally been broken into smaller ones by the working of its own principles—by sovereign States seceding from it; and in the end there would have been a group of little slaveholding oligarchies, without strength at home or respect abroad. By keeping the South in the Union in spite of itself, you made it great and rich; and its children's children will yet rise up to bless you for it.

You saved the republican idea to the world. Had it been proved that a republic is only a rope of sand; had it been shown that it could not be held together under the strain of its own politics; had it been made clear that peace, order or continuity, must have the strong arm of empire behind it—then every liberal appeal in the politics of the world must have been stifled and every king would have been stronger on his throne. Now there is not a country on the map—not even Russia or China—where the success of this republic in war and peace does not weaken the grip of one-man power; where it does not inspire the hope and raise the spirit and mark the future of democracy.

But veterans of the Civil War, such success begets envy, such prestige rouses fear and the republic must be ready at all times to defend itself and its mission in the world. We begin to hear the mutter of trade conspiracies against us; there is picking at the Monroe doctrine; there is an effort on the part of one eager and surly rival to outclass our naval strength; there is a spirit of unrest which bodes no good to peace. While General Grant was writing his great book, in his last days, he said: "Growing as we are in population, wealth and military power, we may become the envy of nations which led us in all these particulars only a few years ago; and unless we are prepared for it we may be in danger of a combined movement being some day made to crush us out." I turn from Grant to Bismarck and find this comment made in the last days of Germany's man of Blood and Iron:

"In estimating future events we must keep an eye on the United States of America, for they may develop into a danger to Europe in economic affairs, possibly also in others, at present wholly unexpected by most of us. In the future the one cannot be separated from the other. The war of the future is the economic war, the struggle for existence on a grand scale. May my successors always bear this in mind and take care when this struggle comes that we are prepared for it." The menace here is not hidden by careful terms. Bismarck speaks of many dangers from America which must be met, naming one as economic and leaving others to be inferred; but all of them, he shows, involve a struggle for existence. You and I know that such a struggle could not go on without a clash of arms; that out of the warfare of trade, when the case grows desperate, comes inevitably the warfare of armies. There are those who believe that the war Grant foresaw and Bismarck prophesied is not far away, but whether far or near we too will be ready for it and the more ready because, on a thousand bloody fields, you, veterans of the Grand Army and your ancient comrades of the South have shown what the American soldier can do.

We of the generation that came after you; those of the generation that follows us, will meet the crisis when it comes most manfully, if we meet it in the spirit of your patience and your faith and your courage. And shall we not end it all with your triumph? In the old days when the miners of Cornwall feared that their beloved and honored leader Trelawney might lose his head, a song was sung among the cottages of the coast which echoed from human lips in the deep recesses and galleries under the sea:

And shall Trelawney die
And shall Trelawney die?
Then twenty thousand Cornish men
Shall know the reason why.
And twice as many underground
Shall know the reason why.

And if the republic is to fall of its high mission; if it is to be stabbed like Caesar in the Senate house, amid a ring of hostile faces; if Freedom herself is to die after the sacrifice of life upon her altar, not merely the living armies of the Union but twice as many underground shall know the reason why.

Senator C. H. Dickey a member of the Post read President Lincoln's famous Gettysburg address and the adjutant, J. W. Francis, read slowly and solemnly the roll call of the dead. Post Commander Eaton read from the ritual and Fred Sherman, as officer of the day, decorated the graves, strewn flowers upon each mound.

The Sixty-sixth Artillery fired the usual salute of three rounds and the Camp McKinley buglers sounded taps. As the last note died away Rev. G. L. Pearson arose and pronounced the benediction and the service was ended.

THE FALLEN HEROES.

The roll of honor of the nation's dead in Nuanu cemetery includes both those who served in the army and those who saw service in the navy. These are as follows:

C. H. Eldredge, Sergt. Co. C, 12th Mass.
J. V. Simonson, Jr., Private Co. K, 18th N. Y. Cav.
C. N. Arnold, Private Co. G, 11th P. R. V. C.
W. C. Wilder, Capt. Kane County (Ill.) Cav.
Chas. Wilson, Corp. Co., A, 4th N. Y. Cav.
E. L. Harvey, Private Co. B, 42nd Mass.
P. J. Lauth, Geo. Shipley, Ed. Harris, Jonathan Austin, Capt. Co. H, 78th N. Y.
Geo. W. Yarrick, Private Co. K, 19th Wis.
Jos. Tilden, Capt. 55th Mass.
John Toms, Capt. Co. B, 64th U. S. C.
J. N. Wright, Sergt. Co. A, 22nd N. Y. Cav.
J. F. Lovejoy, Mate U. S. N., Tallapoosa.
James W. Ramey, Geo. L. Babcock, John McCabe.

The honor roll of Geo. W. De Long Post is longer though, than is shown by the list above, all of whom but Lauth, Shipley, Harris, Ramey, Babcock and McCabe were members of No. 45. The deceased members of De Long Post who are not buried in Nuanu Cemetery are as follows:

G. C. Williams, Sergt. Co. K, 4th Cal.
C. P. James, Sergt. Co. C, 58th Penn.
S. L. Buckland, Private 30th Mass.
H. A. Warren Goodale, First Lieut. 114th U. S. C.
W. A. Gardner, Private Co. E, 17th Kan.

Thos. Campbell, Asst. Eng., U. S. N., Cayuga.
Martin Hagan, Surgeon 51st Ohio.

HISTORY OF THE POST.

Geo. W. De Long Post was organized in Honolulu on September 23rd, 1882 and was the only Grand Army post in existence outside the limits of the United States up to the time of annexation. It is even now the only organization of its kind without the mainland, but its members are none the less patriotic or less willing to do honor to their dead comrades on that account. The membership of No. 45 is composed as follows:

E. A. Strout, P. C., U. S. N., Pon-tosue.
Robt. Nelson, S. V. C., Co. H, 23rd N. Y.
W. F. Williams, J. V. C., Co. H, 8th Cal.
G. Dietz, Q. M., Co. D, 6th Conn.
L. L. La Pierre, Chaplain, Co. I, 3d U. S. L. A.
Sam. McKeague, Surg., Co. B, 38th Penn.
C. H. Dickey, Co. C, 4th Ill. Cav.
Chas. Devlin, Co. C, 10th Tenn. Cav.
W. L. Eaton, Co. I, 4th Mich. Cav.
John Bonner, Co. E, 18th Ohio.
Thos. Cary, Co. C, 1st Ill.
E. Cook, Co. I, 8th N. Y.
N. B. Emerson, Co. H, 1st Mass.
R. Jay Green, Co. B, 26th Conn.
A. S. Hartwell, 55th Mass.
Fred Sherman, O. D., Co. A, 6th Cal.
M. Martinez, Adjutant, Co. K, 23rd Mo.
Jas. T. Copeland, S. M., Co. A, 11th Ind.

Wm. McCandless, Q. M. S., Co. M, 2nd Iowa.

Louis Adler, Co. A, 6th Cal.
G. C. Hewitt, Co. E, 20th N. Y. Cav.
Jas. O. Luttet, Co. G, 12th Penn. Cav.

Chas. Meinecke, Co. E, 1st N. Y. A.
Geo. W. Smith, Co. G, 5th N. Y.
Fred. Turrill, Co. D, 184th N. Y.
M. H. Perry, Co. K, 25th Ill.
Jas. E. Duff, Co. G, 9th Ill. Cav.
E. C. Chase, Co. I, 2nd Cal. Cav.
Peter F. Dubois, U. S. N., Lancaster.

The past post commanders of the post are Messrs. Fred Terrill, G. Dietz, L. L. La Pierre, Sam. McKeague, John W. Francis, W. L. Eaton, N. B. Emerson and R. J. Green.

DE LONG, THE EXPLORER.

The local camp takes its name from George Washington De Long one of the bravest of the Arctic explorers, and one who lost his life in seeking the North Pole.

He was born in New York, August 22, 1844, and entered the naval academy in 1861, from which he was graduated in 1865. He gained the rank of lieutenant commander in the navy and served in 1873 on the Junata on her trip to Greenland in search of the lost Polar. From that time it became his ambition to be placed at the head of an expedition for Arctic exploration, a duty for which he was well qualified. Johnson's Universal Encyclopedia says of him, "In November, 1873, he explained his views by letter to Mr. James Gordon Bennett, proprietor of the New York Herald, who had already considered the feasibility of such an expedition. The result of various conferences was the purchase by Mr. Bennett, of the English bark rigged, steam yacht Pandora of 420 tons, owned by Sir Allen Young. By special act of Congress she was allowed to sail under American colors, to take the name of Jeanette and be navigated by officers of the United States Navy, with all the rights, privileges, etc., of a Government vessel. The command was given to De Long who sailed in her from San Francisco July 8th, 1879, through Behring Strait, in search of the North Pole. On June 13th, 1881, the Jeanette sunk, crushed by the ice, in lat. 77 deg. 15 sec. N., long. 155 deg. 50 sec. E., and De Long with a number of the party, perished on the banks of the delta of the Lena, in Siberia, in October, 1881."

THE FIRST POST.

The first Grand Army Post was organized at Decatur, Ill., April 6th, 1886, by Dr. B. F. Stevenson at Springfield. The pledge of the original members was:

"We, the honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the army and navy and marine corps of the United States, who have consented to this union, having aided in maintaining the honor and integrity and the supremacy of the National Government during the late rebellion, do unite to establish a permanent association to accomplish the following objects:

"First. To preserve and strengthen the kind and fraternal feelings which bind together the soldiers, sailors and marines who united to suppress the late rebellion, and to perpetuate the memory and history of the dead.

"Second. To assist such former comrades in arms as need help and protection, and to extend needful aid to the widows and orphans of those who have fallen.

"Third. To maintain true allegiance to the United States of America and fidelity to its constitution and law, and to encourage the spread of universal liberty, equal rights and justice to all mankind."

IN THE CEMETERIES.

There was a general observance of Memorial Day in the decoration of graves in all the cemeteries of the city. From morning until night there were crowds at the various cemeteries with each person carrying an offering of flowers. In the Catholic, Pearl City, Kawaiahae and other burial grounds, graves were bedecked with flowers, and few were forgotten by relatives. Quite a crowd took the train to Pearl City.

ANNIVERSARY OF A GREAT FLOOD

It is singular that the great Kansas flood occurs on the anniversary of a flood that will always be remembered in the history of floods. Fourteen years ago today the dam on Little Cone-maugh river, nine miles above the city of Johnstown, Pennsylvania, broke away during an extraordinary rainfall. The impounded water added to the already overflowing streams swept down upon the city in one great wave, destroying an enormous amount of property and causing the death of over three hundred people. This calamity created great sympathy throughout the whole country, and a large fund was contributed for the relief of the sufferers. Johnstown has now been rebuilt and restored to its former prosperity.

TIME AND MONEY. — Sickness causes a loss of both time and money. You lose the time and have the expense of medical attendance, entailing a double loss. This can be avoided by using some reliable remedy at the first stage of the sickness. The purchase of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy often proves a profitable investment, for, by its use at the first appearance of any unusual looseness of the bowels, a severe attack of diarrhoea or dysentery may be averted, that might otherwise compel a week's cessation from labor. Every household should have a bottle at hand. It never fails and is pleasant to take. Get it today. It may save a life. All Dealers and Druggists sell it. # FLOODS AND FIRE SWEEP LIFE AWAY

Kansas and Missouri Are Visited by a Terrible Calamity.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLEGRAMS.)

TOPEKA, Kansas, May 30.—The flood is a disaster which has caused enormous loss of life and property.

The rising of the Kaw or Kansas River at this point has rendered seven thousand people homeless and scores have been drowned. The Topeka Auditorium has been utilized as a temporary refuge and now houses two thousand people.

Contagious diseases have broken out among the homeless and an epidemic is feared.

The current of the river is terrific and an enormous mass of buildings and articles of all description are floating down it at almost steam-boat speed. Owing to looting by negroes troops have been called out and are preserving order and assisting in preserving life.

Across the river from Topeka is the manufacturing city of North Topeka and there ten thousand people are absolutely cut off from communication with the outside. North Topeka stands on a bend of the Kaw river and the great flood has cut off this bend and made it a partly submerged island. Following the great rush of water fire broke out in the city. Four hundred houses were burned and others which were floating in the stream caught fire and in turn set fire to others on the river. Many of these houses sheltered people who were climbing on to the roofs for their lives. Two hundred people met death, those who were not cremated by the flames falling into the rushing water to meet death by drowning.

Hundreds of others are now clinging to house-tops and to trees, without food, and as fast as they become exhausted are falling to death in the flood. In this way hundreds are already doomed.

Militiamen in boats and on rafts have saved a great many but it is impossible to render adequate aid. The river is now five miles wide. A waterspout this afternoon caused a further rise.

KANSAS CITY, Missouri, May 30.—The great flood of the Kaw river which is now flowing into the Missouri, added to the already big flood of the latter river, has made conditions here appalling. It is raining heavily. Many lives have been lost.

Across the river in Kansas City, Kansas, there is even more destitution. There has been a great loss of life there and 2500 people are homeless. The loss to property is incalculable.

At Armourdale, the packing district, which is situated at the bend of a small peninsula caused by the Kaw river joining the Missouri river at that point, the flood has inundated the whole district. The big packing houses of Cudahy, Swift, and others have sustained a loss of five millions already. The Kansas City stock yards are under water and the railways centering there are at a standstill.

The city of Topeka is built on three ridges which run at right angles to the Kaw river. In the valleys made by these ridges are some large manufacturing and the workshops of the Santa Fe railway and these have probably suffered heavily from the flood. Topeka is the capital city of Kansas and has four great railways centering there and for years has been known as the town that has no saloons. The larger number of factories are located across the river at North Topeka and the workmen who have been employed in these factories had their homes along the river banks. Great bridges spanned the river between the two cities, and as the cable states that there is no communication with North Topeka it is evident that these have been carried away by the flood. Topeka, including North Topeka, has a population of over thirty-three thousand and the two cities contain about four hundred manufacturing establishments.

KANSAS CITY, May 31.—The Missouri river has had the worst flood in its history. The water has risen thirty feet and submerged five hundred buildings on both banks. There are 6,000 refugees here and thousands more are destitute. Cars with provisions on board, including Pullman dining cars, have been seized by mobs. Armourdale, Argentine and other near-by towns are desolated. The loss runs up into the millions. At the railroad yards fires have broken out among cars loaded with lime.

TOPEKA, Kas., May 31.—It is believed that the worst has passed. The losses here are 200 lives and millions of property. The city passed a frightful night. Owing to a shortage in provisions there is great distress among the inhabitants. No trains are running and the railroads are blockaded. The town of North Topeka is devastated. But few homes are left standing in the Northern part. Fortunately the rain extinguished the fires. People have been rescued from submerged or floating houses with great difficulty. Thousands are homeless and suffering from hunger and exposure.

DES MONIES, Ia., May 31.—The river is receding imperceptibly. There are thousands of refugees here from the surrounding country. Millions of dollars' damage and the loss of many lives are reported. There is much thievery.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—The Government is sending tents and supply to the stricken communities in the Middle West.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

What is said to have been the first Grand Army post was organized by Major Stephenson and Capt. Phelps at Decatur, Ill., April 6, 1866.

The first national encampment was held at Indianapolis Nov. 20 and 21, 1866, when Stephen A. Hurlbut of Illinois was elected commander.

The growth in numbers was not great during the first ten years.

The following figures show the increase to 1890 and the decline since that year:

1877	27,178
1880	66,834
1881	85,856
1882	134,446
1883	213,446
1884	273,168
1885	294,787
1886	323,571
1887	355,916
1888	372,974
1889	387,974
1890	409,489
1895	357,639
1900	276,662

Looking into the future it is estimated that 150,000 veterans will take part in the semi-centennial of the close of the war in 1915. The average age of the soldier in 1865 was 26, so that in 1915 it will be 76. In 1925 when the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence is celebrated, there will be 30,000 Civil War veterans to participate, the average age being 87.

ISLAND MARKET GARDENING.

With less of expense than of profit, every sugar plantation on Maui could experiment in the culture of vegetables and fruits for plantation use, and such experiments could be extended to the cultivation of all productions of the Islands which it would pay to export. The time, land and labor required for such experimental farms would be nominal, and the experience secured, as well as the immediate results obtained would more than repay the outlay, and would prove an opening wedge to future success in many lines of industry which now lie dormant, simply for lack of initiatory encouragement.—Maui News.

The growing of vegetables is easy enough in this Territory if one knows how. But it involves something more than putting the seed in the ground and waiting for the harvest. Whatever the secret may be in market-gardening it has been discovered by the local Chinese and these industrious people are making small fortunes by supplying the market with sweet potatoes, cabbages, lettuce, watercress, carrots, radishes, string beans, summer squash, cucumbers, green peas and okra. All these things could be raised on plantations; most of them could be produced in any back yard of Honolulu where there is room and not too much shade. In the past too many white people have surrendered to the first pest that came along. Something appeared while the leaf or sucked the juice and the plant was given up. That is why the kitchen garden languishes now. Back East they have more luck. When the potato bug appears they dose him with paris green and save the crop; here they would let the crop go. The cabbage worm is not given way and room in the great cabbage belts of the country; it is fought off. It can be easily dealt with here, where certain preparations may be had which, sprinkled on the growing vine or plant, kills the leaf-eating or sucking pest. The agricultural Experiment Station knows what to prescribe and can be freely consulted by any one.

As to the plantations they can, if they choose, produce all the vegetables and fruit they need if they have the land to spare from sugar.

THE TURK CASE.

The non-prossing of the Turk case was a miscarriage of justice which Representative Jaeger, whom the police say was their most important witness, was largely responsible. Jaeger took refuge behind his right as a legislator to resist a subpoena and this left the police without the technical evidence they needed to convict the Turk place as a disorderly house.

This, however, does not mean that the notorious resort will go scot free or that it will be a safe place for men to visit who wish to keep out of the police court and out of print. The Advertiser learns that the house is to be steadily and persistently watched; that the names of its frequenters will be taken by the police for use in court hereafter and that the Federal law which was invoked to crush the new tenement into requisition to crush the new tenement. It may be well to add that the Advertiser will publish the name of every man who may be arrested on the premises or put on the stand as a witness in future prosecutions. This is fair warning and those who heed it will be wise.

There is various talk about the "situation in the Philippines" but it resolves itself to the fact that the United States has acquired nine millions of people who will rebel and set up for themselves in case this country goes to war with an European power. They are no more likely to become good Americans than the Indians ever were. In case of international trouble the Philippines will be a weakness to their owners; and in any event a source of worry and expense.

Kaniho believes in legislation by volume of effort rather than by its thought or care. He talks loud and votes vociferously, but not always as if he had taken the trouble to think.

HILO, PROGRESSIVE AND EXPECTANT.

Hail! Hilo, progressive city, rainy but hopeful, with one railroad line and another coming, with a people full of enterprise and determination. Hail!

And if anyone shall be inclined to doubt the breadth of the Hilo mind, the depth of the Hilo thought, then truly is he benighted. And again, as token, the last move of the little city on the big island may be cited. There can be no longer doubt. Hilo for a year has been hotelless. The failure of the hostelry, so well conducted, in the stopping place on the way to the volcano, was regretted by all except those who found that the resultant boom in boarding houses compensated themselves. To Honolulu folk, to the travelers, it was indeed a deprivation, but it had to be borne and was, but even Hilo felt the lack of proper accommodations for guests and recently set about to remedy the shortage in its attractions.

Then was formed a hui of local people, public spirited to the extreme, which undertook to prepare for the reception of the guests which must come with the drawing of attention to our many beauties, and preliminary steps were taken for the refitting and making habitable of the really ample accommodations, which Hilo has for visitors. It was found that to furnish and equip the hotel there would be needed something like $10,000, the balance over being prudently scheduled as a reserve fund. Then, the figuring being done, the men began to look around for the money. But it was thought by the prudent folk in mackintoshes and rubber boots that it would not be well to put all the eggs in the basket, and so it was that it has been brought to the attention of some people here, that Hilo would receive subscriptions to the stock of the hotel, modestly enough holding a majority of the stock, say $6,000, which would enable the control to be assured.

It was pointed out that Honolulu is endeavoring, or going to endeavor, to attract people to these Islands; that of course they would want to see Hilo, and consequently no better investment in local preparations for tourists could be thought of, than a hotel in Hilo. No one has been observed rushing to take stock, but it is fair to presume that there will be none of this investment going begging when once the importance of the offering is known.

There can be no question of the success of the proposition. The business people here without doubt will take up the stock. It is well too, for certainly there will be very soon a subscription paper started for local things, and of course then, in bounden duty, will Hilo respond with alacrity. From the very nature of their own proposal Hilo capital will invest in the things which Honolulu needs to be more attractive to visitors. The promoter of the Diamond Head tunnel, to enable the visitor to see the interior of the great cone without having to climb, will secure his capital on Hawaii. Hiloites will rush forward with money for the building of stations on each street corner so that the tourist may have a rest and shelter while waiting for rapid transit cars. Why not start a company to furnish all the ice cream soda that the visitor may need, at the street corners, with a drop-a-nickel-in-the-box attachment. Hilo will surely subscribe. We will all want tourists, Honolulu as much as Hilo, and there should be no hesitancy in asking Hilo for big contributions, now that the enterprise of the little city of the big island is known.

AMERICA'S MANUFACTURES.

Four billions of dollars is the estimated annual value of the manufactures which enter into the international commerce of the world. Of this sum, the United States furnishes four hundred millions, or ten per cent of the total. This is the conclusion of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics from an analysis of the international commerce of the principal countries of the world, an analysis which it has made for use in conjunction with its forthcoming volume on our commerce in manufactures.

The rapid growth in the exportation of manufactures from the United States—an increase of more than 100 per cent since 1895—has led the Bureau of Statistics to the preparation of an elaborate statement of the distribution of manufactures, showing the value of every important manufactured article in each year from 1890 to 1902 and every country to which each article was sent during the period from 1892 to 1902, also the total value of American manufactures sent to each country of the world in each year during that term. In considering the question of the distribution of our manufactures, the consuming power of the various countries and the production and exports of the other manufacturing countries of the world are subjects of interest, and the Bureau of Statistics therefore presents in conjunction with its statement of our own exportations of manufactures, statements of the importations, production, and distribution of manufactures by the principal countries of the world.

The imports and exports of manufactures into and from twenty principal countries of the world are given, and estimating the remaining countries, the Bureau states the grand total of manufactures entering into international commerce at about four billions of dollars per annum. Of this the United Kingdom supplies one billion dollars, or twenty-five per cent; Germany supplies twenty per cent; France, about twelve per cent; the United States, ten per cent, and Netherlands, about six per cent. Curiously, the nations which are the largest importers of manufactures are also the largest exporters of manufactures, this being due in part to the fact that much of the material which they use in manufacturing is produced in other countries and imported in the first stage of manufacture, while other manufactures imported are composed of articles produced in other parts of the world and not produced in the United Kingdom. In the case of the United Kingdom, for example, which imports $725,000,000 worth of manufactures annually, thirty-six millions represents the value of copper, chiefly imported from the United States in the form of pigs and bars, the first process of manufacture; sixty-five million dollars, manufactures of silk, of which the material is not produced in the United Kingdom; sixty-three million dollars, wool, much of which is imported in the first stage of manufacture; sixty-seven million dollars, foods and drinks, chiefly in the first stage of manufacture; and fifty-two million dollars, leather, which after importation becomes a material for use in manufacturing.

Sheriff Lorrin Andrews of Hawaii has the honor of being a good government man who helped, in 1893, to defend a responsible administration here. He is as honest and straight an officer as there is in the Territory. But like every conspicuous member of the Dole party he has been pursued for years by the people whose chances to profit by misgovernment he helped to cut off and by others who have felt the heavy hand of the law which Andrews administered. Yesterday he was decorated with the dispraise of the printing ring and burn-those-vouchers House. As a modest man he will wear these honors sedately, but it is no light complaint to have an outfit like the Hawaiian House of Representatives call him

THE MIDDLE WEST FLOOD.

If such floods as are devastating the country about Topeka and Kansas City were common, there would be need of a levee system for the Kaw and Missouri rivers like that which measurably safeguards the Mississippi. But many years intervene between the greater freshets, and the inhabitants, like those along the main rivers of China, take their chances of escape when the floods come. It is cheaper to do that, they think, than it is to construct dykes. It would be interesting to know whether these river inundations are in greater volume now than they were in the old days before men cut away forests about their head waters. The chances are that there is not much difference because, apparently, the floods only happen along the lower prairie stretches, hundreds of miles from the mountains, and in a region, where no forests ever grew. Long rains fill the prairie soil with water down to hard pan and the river beds are not wide and deep enough to take care of the surplus which seeps into them.

Water makes havoc enough when it goes beyond bounds, but it usually works other disasters. Houses are undermined and toppled over, catching fire from their own stoves and setting river towns or floating houses in flames. Fright, hardship and privation among an inundated people, make sickness or contagion. All these unhappy circumstances have combined in the cases of the Kansas and Missouri valley dwellers.

THE MANKICHI DECISION.

By the narrow margin of one vote the United States Supreme Court has sustained the position of the Territory in the Ooki Mankichi case and saved Hawaii the cost of some twenty new trials for grave offenses and the danger that, from lapse of time and loss of witnesses, many dangerous men would be turned loose on the community. The bitterness of the Transition period fight is a matter of recent record. It entered strongly into the politics of two years ago, the plea being that the United States Constitution took effect here with the change of flags and that such acts of the Hawaiian government and courts between that time and the organization of the Territory as contravened the Federal organic law, however permissible under Hawaiian law, were thereby rendered invalid. The "insular decisions," so called, established this contention in part and denied it in part. Many rights of individual liberty guaranteed by Federal organic law were established here, but the court did not insist upon fidelity to American forms of procedure. In the present case the court goes further than before and makes valid the punishment of capital offenses where they were not preceded by a grand jury indictment. The position in which this decision leaves Judge George D. Gear must be an uncomfortable one. So sure was Gear of his law that he gave full swing to his partiality for crime and criminals and attempted a general jail delivery in which he was frustrated by the hard work of the then Attorney-General Dole, Deputy Attorney-General Cathcart and the police. It looked for a time as if Gear, abusing the power to punish for contempt in his customary way, would commit the Attorney-General to jail; but he stopped short of that and now has the privilege of seeing Mr. Dole establish his contention in the court from which there is no appeal.

The steamer Noeau arrived from Kukuineke Sunday morning with about 4,400 bags of sugar for Schaefer &amp; Co.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Captain Harry Flint brought two Japanese stowaways ashore from the Arthur Sewall.

Commodore Macfarlane of La Paloma protests against the yacht race decision, claiming a dead heat.

Eugene Duvauchelle received news that his sister, Mrs. Louise Groves, had died at Wailuku on Friday.

Speaker Beckley, of the House of Representatives, is ill with the dengue fever at his home in Kalihl.

Waterhouse &amp; Co.'s cable report of Hawaiian stocks is as follows: Hawaiian Commercial, $46; Honokaa, $13.

HANALEI LAND TO BE OPENED

At the meeting of the Executive Council yesterday another opportunity was developed for the small farmer, and the native Hawaiian if he choose will find it right in his line. Commissioner E. S. Boyd's proposal to open the lease of the Ahupuaa of Hanalei, Kauai, in part for homesteads was approved.

There is something like 5022 acres in the tract, the expiring lease of which is held by Fred Wundenberg. It is estimated that between 1000 and 2000 acres is good homestead land, being wet land suitable for rice or taro cultivation. The remainder will be held as a forest reservation, being for the greater portion in the mountains.

EBEN LOW MAY BE SUPERINTENDENT

Rumor has it that the successor to Superintendent of Public Works Henry E. Cooper will be Eben Low. Mr. Low is now in the city and when seen yesterday would not discuss the matter in any way. The report is that the office has been tendered to him and he still has it under consideration.

A Look Ahead.

One year ago, the cable seemed a mere pipe dream, too good to be true, yet today the Islands are in electric call of the whole world and by July 4, will be a link in the cable which girdles the globe. This means much, but not so much as will result from the completion of the Panama canal, which is now a practical certainty in the reasonable near future. By the time the canal is completed, a vast trade will have sprung up between the occidental and oriental shores of the Pacific, and the Islands, by virtue of their position, will be the focus of hundreds of intersecting steamer lines. And all this means that the Islands have a brilliant future, the dawn of which has appeared.—Maui News.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Supt. Cooper says that his resignation will not necessarily effect the county litigation.

The Lihue Plantation has filed amended articles of incorporation. Only minor changes are made.

Wm. Rawlins will go to Maui next Tuesday as special Deputy Attorney-General to prosecute criminal cases at the June term.

While Charles Girdler was serving on the Pat Murphy jury a thief entered his warehouse and stole dress goods of the value of $300.

The police, under the direct supervision of High Sheriff Brown, are looking out for incompetent hack drivers and a weeding out system will soon begin.

A resolution is reported to have been introduced in the Japanese Parliament protesting against the new hackman clause in the county law, which bars out all persons who cannot speak the English language.

Commissioner E. S. Boyd is to visit Lanai soon to investigate an application made by Chas. Gay and L. E. Pinkham for a three thousand acre tract which is wanted for growing eucalyptus, wants a lease for a longer period than five years, which cannot be given as the lot is classified as agricultural land.

(From Monday's daily.)

Life insurance men have been making a close canvass of Maui.

Mrs. Allan Herbert is convalescing from an attack of dengue fever.

Rev. W. M. Kincaid is now in Palestine. He is expected back in about two months.

Attorney W. F. Crockett of Puunene will engage in the practice of law at Wailuku.

Yesterday was the stormiest day in May. Valley streams ran high and the outfall sewer was busy.

A. P. Taylor of the Advertiser is ill with appendicitis. It is possible that an operation can be averted.

Island-grown peaches of excellent quality are in the market. A few good muskmelons have been coming in from Wailuku.

Treasurer Kepoikai is receiving applications from pharmacists under the new law, which requires all druggists to hold a certificate from the Territory.

As the Memorial day parade was passing up Vineyard street a hack cut into it taking a place in the procession just in front of the Governor's carriage. It contained Colonel Lake.

Frank Turk returned on yesterday's steamer.

A boxing tourney will be held at the Orpheum on Saturday evening.

Rev. W. D. Westervelt and wife are going to the Orient in the Siberia for Mrs. Westervelt's health.

There was a meeting of the Board of Public Institutions yesterday, but only to adjourn without doing anything.

Judge Kalua took home to Wailuku from the capital plans for the county building for Maui to be erected at Wailuku.

Prof. Lyons, the meteorologist, leaves for Hawaii today on a short vacation. Weather forecasts will subside during his absence.

The Supreme Court report, Vol. 14, is about closed. Chief Clerk Henry Smith will advertise forthwith for tenders for printing Vol. 15.

A. W. Van Valkenburg, of the B. F. Dillingham Co., has been laid up for several days with a damaged knee, resulting from a hard fall from his bicycle.

Kawai has sued Hall for divorce, alleging desertion. He says in his complaint that they were married by "the Rev. W. D. Alexander, a Mormon minister."

H. A. Bigelow has withdrawn from the firm of Kinney, McLaughlin &amp; Bigelow, and formed a law partnership with A. S. Hartwell, with offices in the Stangenwald Building.

Senator Baldwin caused a sigh of relief when he entered the Senate chamber yesterday morning, as it was reported when the President took the chair that he was very ill. The Maui Senator seemed fit as a fiddle.

Work on the Hilo reservoir will proceed with means provided by the emergency bill. Whitehouse &amp; Hawkshurst have nearly completed the excavations and when these are ready the Public Works Department will supervise the construction.

Excelsior Lodge, I. O. O. F., will hold a meeting in Elks' Hall this evening to which all members are requested to attend. The matter pertaining to the new building will be discussed and some very important business will be transacted. The time is 7:30 o'clock and it is hoped there will be a good attendance.

F. A. Smith, superintendent of Wilder's lumber yard, will leave in the Alameda to spend a vacation in San Francisco. It will be the first time he has been off the beach for twenty-two years and he will be gone five weeks. "Parson" Smith, as he is best known, is 74 years of age but as active as most men of fifty.

K. Morishegy, who married a wife in Japan while he was in Honolulu, has to suffer the exclusion of his bride from this country by the immigration authorities. There is a transoceanic divorce of a former wife in the case, and the Occidental officials refuse to recognize such long-distance juggling in matrimony.

Miss Emma Perry and Fred Kiley, proprietor of the Pantheon, captain of the Malle Illmas and one of the oldest and best known of the baseball players of the city, were married last evening at the home prepared for his bride by the groom, at Punchbowl and Beretania streets. The ceremony was private, being witnessed only by a few intimates. The young people were tendered the good wishes of a host of friends later. They will at once make their home in their new residence.

ain in Stomach

It has been said that a healthy person doesn't know he has a stomach.

How unhealthy the dyspeptic must be!

He feels as if he were all stomach, and one thing that makes him feel so is that pain at the pit of the stomach—sometimes an "all-gone feeling"; sometimes a "burning sensation."

"I suffered from pains in my stomach and could not eat. An old gentleman told me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and after the use of four bottles I gained my appetite, and I was soon completely cured, so that now I feel like a new man. On no account would I be without Hood's Sarsaparilla in my house." HENRY CALLAN, 71 Commercial St., Portland, Me.

WHAT HILO TOWN THINKS

Reflections of the Coffee Shop Sage.

The Hilo Herald's Coffee Shop philosopher has the following:

"It's going to be fine for the saloon men in Honolulu if the emergency appropriation bill does not pass quickly," said the Early Riser. "Hear they've stopped the pumps and people cannot get water to drink down at the capital."

"It may be bad for the liquor men as well," said the Cheerful Liar. "I remember one of them telling me a few years ago that the water supply there was the source of a great deal of profit to him in his business. All he did was to take the bung out of a barrel and turn the taps; a quarter inch whiskey and an inch water and let nature take its course. If there is no water supply there now the profit in liquor may be materially reduced."

"They will find a way to start the pumps," said the Kicker. "The members of the House are all temperance folk and they will pass the appropriation bill if they are forced to drink liquor in consequence of neglect."

"I hope they pass an appropriation for a new fire engine in Hilo," said the Early Riser. "We want a machine for something beside show. The boys did not take it out Friday night because they knew it would not work. I believe a competent engineer has expressed an opinion that it is good only for old metal. Had the wind been stronger Friday night there is no doubt there would have been a conflagration here that would have destroyed the town. It was only by strenuous effort on the part of the men who handled the hose that it was prevented."

"What about the men who handled the furniture?" asked the Kicker.

"Well, they were a little excited," answered the Early Riser. "The wind was not blowing toward the main house so that there was only a minimum of danger there and the furniture would have been better off if it had been left alone. Throwing it out of the second story did not improve it much."

"I believe we should have a new engine," said the Cheerful Liar, "and a watchman at the engine house so that in case of alarm he would be on hand. I am told that both hose reels were taken out by men who were not members of the company and that very few active members were on hand. A little reorganizing and weeding out would be beneficial. In most small places where there is a volunteer corps of firemen they have occasional drills, but I do not remember seeing one in Hilo since the Serrano fire. The engine is kept bright and is oiled up but it is merely an ornament and would not be of much service if put to a test. I understand that several merchants here wired the members of the Legislature of this district last Saturday to work for an appropriation. Whether it will do any good remains to be seen. There is so much delay down there that I doubt if we can expect much from them in a matter where supplying the means of saving a town is concerned. I cannot make out what they are trying to save by delay. There is credit of the city is certainly not being helped by that body refusing to appropriate money with which to pay bills."

"It's a lot worse than it was during the monarchy," said the Kicker. "In those days it was an unusual thing for a bill to remain unpaid after presentation. After the overthrow the change came, first by the government taking thirty days' time, then increasing it to three months and paying largely in silver when the rate of exchange was one and a quarter for gold and one per cent added if you bought with silver. Lately there has been a little improvement but there is still room for more. If the Legislature continues its delay whatever improvement has been made will be lost."

"There's too much scuffling over small items," said the Meddler. "And no time left to attend to the important matters which come before the body." "You can put some of it down to lack of experience and failure to realize the changes which the United States laws have brought us. A decade from now things will be different," said the Cheerful Liar. "And we may then have men who will grasp a situation as a miser does his coin."

"What's the 'agony lunch' doing these days?" asked the Early Riser. "I haven't heard of a dance for a week; things must be slowing up in Hilo." "Switched," said the Meddler. "Gone into athletics and playing tennis and basketball. After the Fourth of July they will go back to dancing. Most of the society men are interested in the performance to be given by the Elks and they have their hands full practicing their stunts for that entertainment."

"It will seem like old times when Joe Serrano opens his skating rink," said the Kicker. "That craze didn't last long but she was a wahn baby for a time. I don't know whether the revival will be quite as effective."

"I don't know," said the Cheerful Liar. "There is a new generation of young America in the field, and to many of them skating on bed castors is something new and novel. There is no doubt in my mind that the 'Hall of the Dull Thud' will be as well patronized as the one in the stables a few years ago. There is something fascinating in a skating rink fall, a something the boys and girls mind but very little for the contact does not leave a scar that is visible."

"In this town where it does not cost much to make ice what an excellent opportunity there would be to have ice skating under cover," said the Kicker. "The Hilo Electric Light Works would only have to put up a building on their Puae lot, run pipe into it and turn on the frezgun. I believe that could be

HAPPENINGS AT LAHAINA

Ernest Gilbert Cockett Is Run Over by the Cars.

The Maui News says: By invitation of the plantation officials, a large number of persons visited Kaanapali Camp last Saturday evening. An engine and six cars were finely decorated with leis, ferns and palm branches. Trains left the mill station at 7 and 8:30, moving quite slowly over the long trestles. When the cars arrived at the terminus, the Kaanapali people extended a hearty welcome, which was emphasized by cheers and fire-crackers. Two buildings were tastefully draped, and lighted with Japanese lanterns. In one of the buildings a generous luau was provided, and the lower structure was reserved for dancing. After a very pleasant entertainment, the return trains left Kaanapali at an early hour on Sunday Morning. Mr. H. Haneberg made a very good host.

When the last train was within a few minutes' run of the Pioneer Mill, about 3 a. m., a serious accident occurred. Ernest Gilbert Cockett fell from the train, and the last two cars passed over him. The surgeons were sent for, and temporary relief was afforded. The poor boy was taken to Dr. Davidson's office, chloroform was administered, and the injuries were carefully examined. There was a compound, comminuted fracture of the right femur, and a flesh wound on the left foot. There was considerable venous hemorrhage, and the limb was badly swollen. About 9 a. m. the lad was taken home in a hack. By request of relatives no operation was performed. In spite of these dangerous wounds, after the necessary dressings were applied, the boy suffered comparatively little.

Last Sunday morning a Sunday School contest for a prize took place at Lahainaluna Seminary. There were a number of visitors, representing Waialeale Church and also "the new religion." All recitations for the present term closed on Monday. An entertainment complimentary to Mr. W. E. Reavis, the retiring principal, was given on Thursday morning, and a luau followed. Mr. Reavis has sold the greater part of his household goods and is making preparations for his departure to the mainland; his purpose being to take a course of study at the University of California.

The four-masted schooner Aloha, Captain Freye, arrived with a large load of lumber last Saturday. After discharging, the vessel will probably load sugar at Kaanapali.

Mrs. Walter H. Hayselden and child arrived on Monday evening. Mr. Kreuse, formerly manager of the Olowalu Plantation, has been visiting friends in Lahaina.

MINOR NOTES OF MAUI NEWS

Wailuku Plantation will close its grinding season and shut down next week.

The home rulers are preparing a grand luau for June 11, at the Skating Ring.

The work of macadamizing the road from the depot to the beach is being steadily pushed, and has reached the Soda Works.

The Pioneer Mill at Lahaina has finished its season's run, with an output of 16,513 1-2 tons, and has closed down for the season.

Wailuku is being investigated by several parties, with the view of locating and opening new lines of business here, for which there is room.

Quite a number of prominent Honolulu attorneys are booked for the coming term of Circuit Court and the Attorney General is expected in person. A special meeting of the Maui Racing Association is called for next Tuesday evening at which matters of importance are to be considered, and a full attendance is desired.

The Kamehameha boys will make a musical tour of Maui during their summer vacation, and as they promise to bring a ball team with them, several match games will probably be arranged.

With the end of this month, the Puunene mill will have turned out 30,000 tons of sugar for the season, and as the mill will run a month longer, the total output is estimated at over 35,000 tons.

Arrangements are being pushed for the Fourth of July races at the Kahului race track, and several Honolulu horsemen have definitely announced their intention to send their horses here on that date.

done all right and with the quality of ice that company is making there would be a fine surface every day.

"That's a suggestion for men who have little capital to invest," said the Cheerful Liar, "and I should think it would be taken up either by the company or outsiders. The house could be built on the same plan as the cold storage rooms and the tank could, I presume, be of cement or iron. It would cost a little money, of course, but I believe it would pay all right."

"And it would create a demand for furs and warm clothing," said the Kicker, "that would give a boom to the dry goods business."

"But it seems to me that the rink would have to be practically air tight," said the Meddler. "In which case it occurs to me that the health of the patrons would be sacrificed."

ALMS TO THE POOR

Twelve Poor Men Enjoy Annual Feast.

The rain fell unheeded yesterday upon the heads of some fifteen hundred Portuguese who were pouring out their devotion to the shrine of the Holy Ghost at the Catholic Cathedral just as did Elizabeth, Queen of Portugal, eight hundred years ago. The rain poured in torrents all day but the festivities suffered little thereby, and the program was carried through as originally intended.

The cathedral grounds had been gaily decorated with flags and flowers, and the worshippers partook of the gaiety of the scene. At seven o'clock in the morning the distribution of alms to the poor took place, and hardly a person but received some token of the day. Meat, vegetables, flour and edibles of all kinds were distributed with a generous hand, and the larder of many a poor family was filled. In spite of the rain the crowds did not diminish and a little before 10:30 o'clock, when occurred the Mass procession, it was at its thickest. All pressed forward to kiss the red banner of the Holy Ghost and to pour their offerings of silver into the crown carried by Bishop Libert. Once the church was reached in the slow procession from the chapel, the people hurried to the auditorium which was soon filled. The procession filed slowly to the front, the twelve poor, with the children and members of the committee sitting near the altar. Senor Canavarro, the Portuguese Consul, was among the present. Solenn high mass was then celebrated. Father Stephen delivering the sermon which had to do with the patron Saint and the pilgrimage to the shrine of the Holy Ghost.

At one o'clock was given the dinner of the twelve poor, who on this occasion were represented by both Hawaiians and Portuguese. Besides the Reverend Father Pro Vicar Libert and the members of the clergy, the committee and a number of invited guests including Consul Canavarro were present. The twelve men were attired from head to foot in white, which they had been given by the Holy Ghost Society, together with a huge loaf of bread and a silver dollar.

The feast was served at the shrine of the Holy Ghost, the table being laden with enticing viands of all kinds, of which the twelve poor men eagerly partook. Hundreds of people, men and women and children, pressed around the chapel and watched the novel ceremony, during which the Catholic Mission band played. The candles which served to illuminate the shrine were kept burning all day.

Following the ceremony of the feast the people scattered about the grounds, soon to be drawn to one spot again by the auctioneer's cry as he disposed of the goods which had been deposited at the shrine of the Holy Ghost. Here was sold chickens, vegetables, eggs, bread, fruits, cakes, meats and sundry other articles. Many of the articles after they had been purchased for a fancy figure were returned to the auctioneer to be sold again, and so one or two chickens were sold half a dozen times. Then the final purchaser would walk off with a fat and squawking hen for twenty-five cents or fifty cents.

At three o'clock the concert by the Territorial band began, continuing until after five. During all this time the rain continued to pour unceasingly, but the crowd did not diminish, and it was well into the evening before the festivities were ended.

MAUI EDITOR DISCUSSES PHASES OF SMALL FARMING

Editor Robertson, of Wailuku, discusses various phases of the farm problem as follows in the last issue of the Maui News:

One feature of tourist travel must not be overlooked, and that is the desirability of the Islands as a winter home for those who live in the blizzard-swept districts of the West and the ice-bound regions of the North. Thousands of cottage homes for winter tourists should dot the mountain-sides all over the Islands, and this will come true, if the proper methods are adopted to attract this class.

The West and Northwest, with Seattle, Tacoma and Victoria as entrepôts, are markets which would absorb an enormous amount of Island produce which cannot be grown in those regions, and yet which would be in high demand. These markets, with the additional fast steamer service to and from the Islands, practically lie in front of our doors, and the day will surely come when a large export trade will spring up on the Islands, to supply these markets.

Light is beginning to dawn in the matter of coffee production on the Islands, and a sure path to eventual success lies ahead of this industry. The true secret is to build up a taste and demand for Island coffee throughout the United States, which can be done by enlisting the aid of prominent houses in the larger cities. Neither pains nor money should be spared to do this and if it be done there will always be a good and staple market for our coffee.

Wanted.—A commission house in Honolulu to handle Islands produce, exclusively. One of the chief drawbacks to the development of small farming and other minor industries on the Islands arises from inability to market the surplus. Potatoes, cabbage, chickens and fruits are shipped to Honolulu from the Coast and kept in cold storage, and the Honolulu merchants who are engaged in this trade either cannot or will not handle our Island productions. As an illustration, cabbages were raised by the Hayseldens on their new lands in Hawaii and shipped to Honolulu. These cabbages were of excellent quality and so large that four of them would fill a gunny-sack, and yet they found no sale in Honolulu because the trade was supplied by the Honolulu merchants with small, inferior cabbage from San Francisco, at fifty cents a head. The same is true of Maui chickens and eggs, and is no doubt true of many minor productions on all the Islands. It is deplorable that a constant drain of money is being sent to the Coast for these things, and if a commission house, capitalized at say $10,000, were established in Honolulu, to handle Island produce exclusively, it would go far to develop our industries, and keep our money at home, at the same time.

BREWER & CO. WIN CASE

Its Own Valuation Confirmed by Court.

Two of the most important tax appeal cases were decided in majority opinions of the Supreme Court handed down yesterday afternoon, both written by Justice Perry and signed by Chief Justice Frear with the author. The taxable values of their respective properties as returned by C. Brewer & Co., Ltd., and Castle & Cooke, Ltd., are confirmed on appeal from the Tax Appeal Court. Justice Galbraith writes a dissenting opinion in the Brewer case, but merely records his dissent in the Castle & Cooke case. W. A. Whiting and C. F. Clemons appeared for the Brewer, and W. R. Castle for the Castle & Cooke corporation, Robertson & Wilder representing the assessor in both cases. The Brewer opinion is exhaustive, covering eighteen typewritten pages. Its ascertained law is condensed in the following syllabus:

"Enterprise," as used in the third paragraph of Section 820, C. L., means the combined property which forms the basis of an enterprise. Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co. vs. Shaw, 10 Haw. 624, followed.

"Under the term 'combined property' as used in that section no property is made taxable which is not included within the definitions of the terms 'real property' and 'personal property' set forth in Sections 818 and 819.

"The stocks and bonds of private corporations are not taxable under existing laws in this Territory.

"Sugar plantation agency contracts are 'contracts' within the meaning of that word as used in Section 819, and taxable, but neither promissory notes nor accounts receivable are such 'contracts' nor are they taxable.

"Where by reason of the skill, experience and integrity of the officers and servants of a corporation, its good will and the unity of ownership and the unity of use of its various items of property, the value of the tangible property of such corporation is increased, such increase of value is nevertheless the value of such tangible property and the latter is taxable under our statute at such increased value.

"When the combined property forming the basis of an enterprise for profit consists in part of taxable and in part of non-taxable property and by reason of unity of ownership and unity of use and other intangible elements the aggregate value of all of such combined property is increased, such increment of value in so far as it is due to the non-taxable property is not taxable; and when the increment of value of the taxable property is due wholly to its unity of ownership and use with the non-taxable and not to the unity of ownership and use of its own parts, when, in other words, the taxable property, considered independently of the non-taxable, is of no greater value when combined in use as an enterprise for profit than the total of its separate parts—such increment is not taxable.

"In ascertaining the aggregate value of all the property owned by a corporation the amount of the debts, if any, of the corporation should be added to the selling price of the shares of its capital stock."

The appellant returned for taxation for the year 1902 its leasehold interest in certain parcels of land and the buildings thereon at $36,902.98; merchandise, cash in hand and their personal property, at $45,302.18, and gross insurance premiums received during the year 1902 at $24,832.99, and the total of these

MAUI CHINESE FUND CLAIMS

Other Notes of Interest From the Island of Valleys.

MAUI, May 30.—Maui Chinese, old-time contract men, are assigning to Alexander & Baldwin their claims to all sums due them from the so-called Chinese Fund, under conditions of foreign office permits.

Twenty-eight assignments will be forwarded to Honolulu today. It is estimated that there are a hundred Orientals on Maui who will thus assign their claims to Alexander & Baldwin for collection.

The meeting of the Maui Racing Association at Wailuku was postponed from the night of the 23rd to that of June 2nd, no quorum being present on the 23rd.

The grand and petty juries of the 2nd Circuit will meet at Wailuku, Wednesday, June 3rd.

By last night's steamer, Representative S. Kellinot and Secretary of the Senate N. W. Aluli, arrived in Wailuku for a day's visit. Judge J. W. Kalua also returned from Honolulu bringing with him plans for the new court and county building, a handsome two-story brick edifice designed by Dickey & Newcomb. The estimated cost is $23,000.

Mrs. Kittredge, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. F. F. Baldwin of Puunene, will depart for San Francisco today.

Miss M. E. Fleming of Grove Ranch leaves Maui today for "three-months" visit to Portland, Oregon, via Victoria.

Mrs. Cunningham, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. F. McConeky of Paia, for some months past, returns today to her home on the mainland, going by way of Victoria. Mrs. D. B. Murdoch, of Ewa, is visiting her parents at Haiku. It is stated that the Murdocks will soon become permanent residents of Wailuku, Mr. Murdoch having accepted the position of auditor for several plantations.

Weather—Strong trades.

separate items, $107,038.15, as the "aggregate value of the combined real and personal property which is the basis of the business enterprise known as C. Brewer & Co., Ltd."

The assessor, on the other hand, assessed the combined property, under Section 820, C. L., at $1,121,137, reaching that figure by the following method:

10,000 shares (capital of the concern) at $12.50 (market price) at sales of a few shares	$125,000
Less assessed value of Hawaiian stocks and bonds owned by the company	2,851,700
	$1,273,300
Less 10 per cent probable reduction in sales of large blocks, $127,330, and insurance premiums, $24,833	152,163
	$1,121,137

The Tax Appeal Court held that the assessment was correctly made under Section 820 and approved the method pursued by the assessor in ascertaining the aggregate value, deducting, however, 15 per cent in place of 10 per cent from the market value of a few shares to ascertain the market value of the whole, and computing such percentage on the total before deducting the value of the exempt property and not after "as was erroneously done by the assessor." The total valuation fixed by that court was $629,717.1, e.:

10,000 shares at $12.50	$125,000
Less 15 per cent, $18,750, less Hawaiian stocks and bonds, $2,851,700, and insurance premiums, $24,833	3,495,283
	$ 629,717

With regard to the exemption of Hawaiian stocks and bonds, the court quotes the law at length and holds to the principle of strict construction in favor of the public. "Whether the agency contracts, the bills and accounts receivable, and the increase of value due to unity of use, etc., or any of these, are taxable to the appellants, are questions involved," the court says. As to plantation agency contracts, it states that "the evidence on the subject is meagre, indefinite and unsatisfactory," and concludes: "We think that justice will be more nearly accomplished by regarding the contract, for the purposes of this case, as of no value."

To its final declaration fixing the taxable valuation at $629,717.16 as returned, the court adds that the amount of gross insurance premiums received by the company is, of course, subject to the specific tax provided by the statute.

A separate question is decided in the Castle & Cooke case, as shown by the following syllabus:

"Goods purchased without and not yet within the Territory at the date of assessment are not taxable under the laws of this Territory.

"The valuation of the taxable property of the appellant fixed in accordance with the principles declared in the case of C. Brewer & Co., ante."

Insurance premiums in this case also are added to the assessable property, their gross amount being $44,465.79. The other property was returned at $516,639.12, which the assessor raised to $516,639.12, which the Tax Appeal Court reducing this to $426,631.

Justice Galbraith gives the gist of his dissenting opinion in these opening paragraphs:

"I understand that one proposition in particular was settled by the decision of this court in Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co. vs. Shaw, 10 Haw. 624, namely, that real and personal property combined and used in an enterprise for profit can be properly valued, as a whole or unit, for taxation purposes."

THE STARS ECLIPSED

The Wailuku's Won Fifteen to Nothing.

MAUI, May 30.—The unexpected surely happened at the baseball game at Wells Park, Wailuku, on the afternoon of the 24th. The hitherto invincible "Morning Stars" were shut out, whitewashed, by the Wailuku boys by the large score of 15 to 0. Practice guided by wisdom will bring success almost invariably—other things being equal. For the last two weeks, early and late, the Wailuku boys have practiced trying to remedy their weakness at the bat and they seem, judging from the last game, to have accomplished their purpose.

George Cummings' arm was in proper shape and he struck out ten of the "Stars" while "Jackie" (Jackson) supposed to be the best pitcher of the Maui league, fanned out but one of the Wailuku boys.

The Wailuku should certainly be congratulated on their pluck. All last season they brought up the rear of the procession, this year they seem destined to be the winners.

WONDERS HOW IT HAPPENED.

The Maui News has the following: "How did it ever happen?" Well, there are several answers to that query, according to the point of view. Some have a fixed conviction that there was a kahuna work going on. Others claim that the magic word "Wailuku" carries success with it this year. While not prepared to combat either of these views, still the News will modestly state its own deductions, with reference to the result of last Sunday's game between the Wailukus and the Morning Stars.

While the Star team contains no phenoms, yet each member plays a good game, and constant practice has developed them to about as high a state of excellence as they can hope to achieve. Pickard's long absence has dulled the keen edge of his play, and the loss of Ned Krueger to the Ilumas was also seriously felt. But heretofore no other team on Maui has been able to down them, because no team has worked together long enough. For several weeks the Wailukus have been looking forward to last Sunday's game, and for two weeks they have practiced steadily. There is no question but that the Wailukus have two or three better all-round men than the Stars, notably Cummings, Cornwell and Wright, and the average of the team last Sunday was quite up to that of the Stars. It was less individual quality, however, than of constant team practice by the Wailukus that told in the game. Cummings and Cornwell, the battery of the Wailukus, deserve special and honorable mention for their work throughout the whole game. The Wailukus played an even game of such high excellence that only one error was noted in the reporter's score-book. The Stars showed some fine individual work, notably a running single-hand catch of a sky ball by Smith in center field, which was the most brilliant performance during the game.

The Wailuku took the bat in the first inning, and after Hose died at first, Cornwell negotiated a bag. Then Cummings played his stick for a three bagger, bringing Cornwell home, and trotted across home plate on an error. Hoi flew out and Kalai died on first, giving the Wailuku two runs.

Then the Morning Stars tried out, A Garcia, safe to first. Cornwell, struck out. J. Garcia, safe to first. Smith struck out. Palapala flew out to short stop, and the hitherto invincible Stars faced a goose egg.

By this time it had dawned on the grandstand crowd that the Wailuku were there to play ball, but it was not prepared for the result of the second inning. They pounded Jackie as follows: Bailey, two-bagger. Wright, three-bagger. Crook safe to first. Huakini safe to first. Hose three-bagger. Cummings, two-bagger. Holt, two-bagger. Kalai, safe to first. Bailey, safe to first. Wright, two-bagger. Crook, safe to first. Huakini, safe to first. Hose safe to first. Cummings safe to first. 10 runs.

In the second inning, Pickard, fanned out. Jackson, safe to first. Krueger, safe to first. Meyer fanned out. A. Garcia fanned out. 0 runs.

By this time the game was won, but the Stars never lost heart. Time and again during the game, they would put three men on bases, but an agile Wailukan would invariably pop up where he ought to be, and do what he ought to do, and another goose-egg would be handed out to the Stars.

This was repeated with almost dramatic effect in the last half of the ninth inning, when the Stars were making one last desperate effort to break the monotony on the score board. Cornwell was on third and J. Garcia, who had negotiated a two-bagger, was on second. Smith, who is quite handy with the stick, went to bat, and the grand stand held its breath. Smith caught the ball square and sent it across the diamond like a bullet, in a breast high horizontal. Second baseman Hose side-stepped to the left, nailed it, and the game closed with the following score:

Wailuku	15
M. Stars	0

Tomorrow afternoon's game will be between the Ilumas and Lahaina, and as both teams are now in high form, a rattling game will be witnessed.

A match game between the Y. M. C. and the Alohas has been arranged for June 11, at Wells Park, and if the Kams bring over a baseball team, a second game may be arranged for that day between them and the M. A. A. team.

Into Fire Claims.

A dozen or more fire claims have been referred to District Attorney Breckons by Treasury Agent McLen-nan for investigation. In all of these claims, two parties have made a demand upon the First National Bank, one man holding an assignment of the original, which in many cases the claimant says had been stolen or he had lost. What appears like a case of forgery of the assignment will also be looked into by Mr. Breckons.

While none of these claims are for very large amounts, there appears to be an indication of crooked work somewhere. The matter was usually brought to the attention of Treasury Agent Mc-Lennan through the receipt by the First National Bank of a protest against the payment of certain claims.
In some instances it was charged that the fire claims certificate had been lost, and in others that it had been stolen. The First National Bank refused to pay the claim at all, either to the party who held the alleged assignment or to the man who said he was the original claimant.

Most of the claimants over whom this dispute has arisen are Chinese.
though there are two natives in the bunch of twelve. If the story of the protestants is to be believed and the claims have been lost or stolen, then at least there must have been forgery of the assignment by the holder of the claim was presented in each instance.
That this is not true in some instances is shown by the fact that one of the local banks is the holder of the claim which is disputed by a Chinese as having been "lost or stolen" though it may be possible that the banking institution was an innocent purchaser.
In some instances also the claim may have been disposed of at a big discount, and the claimants now that he sees the money in sight is trying to get his claim back.

United States Attorney Breckons is making a rigid investigation of the disputed claims and is summoning the rival claimants with a view to ascertaining the real facts in connection with the cases.

There still is a steady stream of callers at the First National Bank from the opening in the morning until the close in the evening, and the million dollar pile is fast diminishing under their onslaughts. Altogether at the hour of closing business yesterday the bank had paid out $251,000 which is more than one-fourth of the total amount.

THREE HAWAIIAN SALVATIONISTS

Joe Koa—is a representative Hawa-ian soldier. Formerly an easy-going, drinking native, he found salvation at the Army penitentiary, which made a genuine change in his heart and life. He is hard-working, and as a soldier and bandsman is very useful on account of his musical abilities, being able to play any stringed or brass instrument.

Kyoto—the Army has been particularly successful among the Japanese on the islands. The most of them have been plantation hands, but our brother, who is one of the most prominent Waikiki soldiers, is a watch-maker and jeweler in business for himself. He wears the full Army uniform, and is heart and soul in the work of winning his countrymen to God and The Army.
Chin Lee is at present our only Chinese officer. He was converted in the Waimea corps, and no sooner got salvation than he felt a desire to work for God. In order to make himself proficient he came to Honolulu and took a course in the Mills Institute.
He is now working away on Kauai, making his influence itself among the many Chinese over on that island.—

HOUSE MEMBERS FAILED TO COME

(From Saturday's Daily.)
The cases against Mrs. Turk and Miss Mabel Lyle, charged with keeping a disorderly house, came up before Judge Dickey yesterday morning, and were not pressed owing to the failure of the prosecution to bring Representatives Jaeger, Kupieha and Fernandez into the court.

When the cases were called, Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth sent a subpoena for Jaeger and the officer returned saying he met the man in the hall of the capitol, showed him the subpoena, and the representative said he did not intend to obey the summons. The Deputy then had the police officer stationed in the Attorney-General's department, serve the subpoena on Jaeger.
The latter again refused and then said to the officer: "I will write it down for you," and wrote on a piece of paper: "I don't intend to come to the police court, Honolulu, Island of Oahu, today."

The Deputy entered a nolle prosequi in the cases under the circumstances.

After Wednesday applicants for naturalization papers will have a rather startling question hurled at them, namely: "Are you an Anarchist?"
There has been a change in the naturalization laws of the United States Congress making an amendment which goes into effect June 3.

HILO MURDERER IS PARDONED BY DOLENative Escapes Remainder of Twenty Year Sentence—Railroad Is Making
Many Improvements.

HILO, May 29.—Kauhi, a native who had served three and one-half years in the Hilo jail on a sentence of twenty years for murder in the second degree, was released yesterday upon an unconditional pardon by Governor Dole.

HAWAII RAILROAD IMPROVE-MENTS.

The railway center of Hilo has been moved from Waiakoa to Waiakoaue and Front streets. The last three days of last week were busy ones with Mr.
Lambert and his assistants for the road had to be graded and tracks laid in order to carry out the plan to run trains from the new station on Sunday morning.

The construction gang graded across Waiakoaue street to the river, cutting a passage way several inches below the street. The ticket office was finished Saturday afternoon and at 8 o'clock Sunday morning a large crowd gathered to see the first train leave.

The convenience of the change was realized by everyone who had occasion to patronize the road and by others who were there to see, if not to take advantage of the change. The road bed was as smooth as that over which the trains of the New York Central travel and it is a comfort to ride over the line. The double track to the river will facilitate freight handling and cars may be left there without interfering with passenger traffic. It is probable that trains will run between Waiakoa and Hilo early in the morning, at noon and after five o'clock at night for the accommodation of working men. Mr.
Lambert has made drawings for a car to be used on this train.

The company has decided not to build a depot at the terminus until some decision is reached regarding the removal of the postoffice or until active work is begun on the Kohala-Hilo railway.
The intention is to have a union depot and both companies will use it.

Nothing will be done on the Oahu extension of the Hilo road until rail-cars can be procured. The company made an offer for a quantity believed to be in Seattle but when the proposition reached there the rails had been shipped north. All of the mills are loaded with orders so that it is impossible to get the Hilo order filled with any degree of promptness. Even when the rails are laid to Glenwood it is not likely that the company will make any valuable improvements at that point; the trend of excursion travel is toward Puna and if the company decides to build a pavilion anywhere it will be at Puna where the attractions are greater than at Oahu. It is thought by some that a sanitarium will some day be built at Puna by outside capitalists in which case the attractions of the district would be still greater and the travel would increase proportionately.—Herald.

BLOODHOUND PRACTICE.

Wm. Watson, who is training the pair of young bloodhounds recently purchased by the Hilo Police Department, gave the pups a trial spin one day this week. A pair of pantaloons belonging to Lopez, were hanged to the tail gate of a wagon and driven over the lava road through Kaunama. The pups struck the trail and kept it until they were tired out. The pair of dogs are pure bloods from the kennels of Dr. J.
B. Fuller at Beatrice, Neb.—Tribune.

CHINESE SUICIDE.

While making his rounds Monday afternoon, J. L. Smith discovered he had lost a tenant for one of his apartment houses on Front street. Yock See, an elderly Chinese, had committed suicide. To make certainty doubly sure, Yock used both rope and knife. He hanged himself with the rope and before strangulation, had slashed his throat with a knife. The body was taken in charge by the police and buried.—Tribune.

TEACHERS' MEETING.

The last meeting of the year of the Hilo Teachers' Union was held Tuesday evening at the home of F. S. Lyman. The program was listened to by about twenty teachers. The work of the year in Roman history was finished by Miss Deyo, who presented a sketch on Modern Italy. The treat of the evening was the exhibition of European photographs and a descriptive talk by Mrs. Hyde. Mrs. Hyde's collection was made by herself in Switzerland and Italy and is very fine. She displayed at the meeting over one hundred views.—Herald.

ROOMS WANTED.

From reports by the outside districts received by individual members of the Executive Committee of the Fourth of July celebration it is probable that Hilo will have an unusually large number of visitors for nearly a week at that season. Should the Hilo Hotel be open at that time it will not be able to accommodate the guests who will ask for rooms. It has been suggested that persons having rooms to let will advise the committee, of which E.
N. Holmes is chairman, just how many rooms they will have for use and how many persons they can accommodate with rooms and rooms and board. The committee will send these lists to Honolulu so that visitors may know before leaving what their chances are to secure comfortable quarters.

FIRE AT PAHALA.

The residence of J. P. Lino, the sugar holier at Pahala, was burned last Wednesday. The fire was started by a self heating smoothing iron which was placed on a window sill. The building burned very quickly.

NOT INCENDIARY.

The jury in the case of the Rossmond House fire was unable to find evidence of incendiary. A verdict of accidental fire was returned.

ANDERSON-RUSSELL.

At the residence of Capt. B. H.

Brown, on Thursday, May 21, 1903,
Alvin T. Anderson and Augusta Russell were married by the Rev. S. L.
Desha. It was a quiet and simple ceremony, Capt. Brown giving the bride away. Miss Mary Meine, an older sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and James Lynch, of the Kinai, acted as best man. A few friends were present.

HILO MEMORIAL DAY.

Memorial Day is to be observed tomorrow as usual though the exercises will not be held until Sunday. Judge Little is the orator of the day and speaks on "The Day and Its Memories." The Hilo band will take part, and there will be readings by Mrs. A.
G. Curtis, Mrs. W. S. Terry and A. C.
McKenney.

HILO HOTEL WAITS.

The committee in charge of the project to reopen the Hilo Hotel report that they are meeting with great success but do not expect to open the hotel upon July 4th when it is most needed. It is probable that some effort will be made to convert the hotel into a lodging house for the occasion.

WANT FIRE PROTECTION.

There was a meeting of citizens at Fireman's Hall on Tuesday night for the purpose of considering ways and means for improved facilities for fire fighting in Hilo.

The consensus of opinion was that the present company should disband and that a new one be organized in its place. It was decided then that when this was done a man should be provided with accommodations within the engine house and it would be his duty to look after the apparatus and see to the ringing of the bell when an alarm is turned in.

It is deemed necessary that additional street hydrants be installed and more hose procured. This matter will be looked after by a committee composed of Dr. Milton Rice, A. H. Jackson and Wm. Vannatta who will report at a meeting to be held at the Fireman's Hall next Tuesday night. This is to be a public meeting and it is hoped that citizens will be present and enroll as members of the fire company.—

NEWS NOTES.

Mrs. E. L. Nash entertained the Juniors at a lawn party on the Manse grounds last Thursday afternoon.
About thirty-five were in attendance and a merry time was enjoyed by the little ones.

Just 114 citizens, many of them business men, donated, through P. C.
Beamer, money for improving the new baseball grounds.

G. H. Gere returns to Honolulu today and takes with him complete data for the abutments for the Waikaloa bridge on Front street. It is Mr. Gere's opinion that the building of this bridge will be pushed by the department.

The subscriptions to the Fourth of July are coming in liberally. The committees are meeting with success in their rounds and the outlook is good for plenty of money if all do as well as those already seen.

Nigel Jackson and Miss C. Martens will be married on June 8.

The Austin property sold at auction by I. F. Ray last Thursday brought $4100. It was bought in by the mortgagee.

O. A. Steven, who for the past two years has been in the government service in the Philippines, returned home yesterday.

The Kamehameha baseball team offer to play any team of ball players in Hilo on July 4 if arrangements can be made.
J. G. Serrao has purchased a quantity of roller skates and will establish a rink in his hall at the corner of Bridge and Shipman streets.

Rev. S. L. Desha will go to Honolulu tomorrow to attend the graduation exercises at Kamehameha, his two sons being in that institution.

It is said that about $5000 will be raised in Hilo toward refitting the Hilo Hotel. It will be hardly possible to have the place ready for July 4.

THOSE DAKOTA FARMERS.

The Job of Getting Them Too Much for One Promoter.

Hilo Side Lights has the following of local interest:

In response to a recent letter of inquiry relative to the non-appearance of the colony of South Dakota farmers, C.
M. Giddings, the representative, under date of April 24, says:

"On my return to San Francisco I was awful sick and that took part of the enthusiasm out of me, and when I arrived home I found it took more than I had to start a colony of well-to-do men, and as they were all large holders of real estate and that business in a degree was a little dull, we never made the start. Of course it was a big undertaking and somewhat of a venture.
Still I would not be surprised if some of us put in the winter in Hilo. This is the first letter I have written since I left. As my scheme fell through, or at least is indefinitely postponed, I felt ashamed to write after they had done so much to find us a location. . . .
"I am yours truly,
"C. M. GIDDINGS."

Change of water often brings on diarrhoea. For this reason many experienced travelers carry a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with them to be used in case of an emergency. This preparation has no equal as a cure for bowel complaints. It can not be obtained while on board the cars or steamship, and that is where it is most likely to be needed. Buy a bottle before leaving home. All Dealers and Druggists sell it. Benson, Smith &

NEED MAKE NO RETURNOahu College Held to Be Exempt From Tax.

Three opinions are filed by the three Justices of the Supreme Court in a decision sustaining the tax court's assessment of property on Miller street belonging to Oahu College. The court in an opinion by Judge Galbraith holds that the college is entitled to exemption even though not claimed in the tax return. Judge Perry concurs and Chief Justice Frear dissents.

The syllabus is as follows:

"It is not necessary to make return for purposes of taxation of property which, by virtue of the provisions of Section 836, C. L., is not subject to taxation, nor to claim in the tax return that such property is exempt."

"A failure to make return and claim of the exemption to the assessor is not a waiver of the right to demand the benefit of the statute."

"The valuation of $25,000 placed on the property by Tax Appeal Court is affirmed."

The college trustees claimed exemption on a part of the Miller street property used for school purposes, which the assessor held was waived by failure to put the exemption in the tax return.

Judge Galbraith says in his opinion that school property is exempt and to hold that there can be any waiver
"would be an act of legislation pure and simple and is beyond the rightful power and duty of the court."

Otherwise every property owner would have to make a return whether owning less than $300 or not. The court continues:

"Where property is exempt, it is not subject to taxation and there is no reason for requiring it to be returned and valued."

"This interpretation has the support of the construction of the officers whose duty it was to administer the law and usage under it, whatever weight such construction and usage may be entitled to."

"We understand that it has not been the practice to require the owners of exempt property, under Section 836, to return the same; that no return has been required of the property belonging to the Territorial Government or the Queen's Hospital or the Board of Education, or churches and colleges of property in actual use for religious or educational purposes."

Judge Perry in concurring says that only property "subject to taxation" must be returned. He thinks also that the two acres assessed at $25,000 should not be taxed but says the college did not appeal from this valuation.

Chief Justice Frear holds that the property must be taxed because no exemption had been claimed. He says:
"There is a difference between property that cannot be taxed under any circumstances and property that is ordinarily taxable under the law, but which for some special reason is exempt in a particular case. In the one case the property is not subject to taxation at all; in the other case, it may be taxed unless the party entitled to the exemption claims his special privilege and shows that he comes within the exception to the general rule."

The Chief Justice says also that the statute is uncertain and inconsistent in many respects so that it is hard to learn just what the legislature really intended.

JOHN K. SUMNER IS IN DEFAULT

Motion for default for want of answer has been filed in the case of W. M.
Campbell vs. John K. Sumner. Davis it will be remembered claims to hold a power of attorney by which he is to act for Sumner in all litigation, but he did not file an answer in the Campbell suit.

An inventory of the estate of W. H.
McGregor was filed yesterday showing its value to be $1783.

The Alameda divorce case was before Judge Gear again yesterday morning, the plaintiff bringing in another sister, Mrs. Costa, and her husband to show that she had not been properly treated. The court took the matter under advisement.

Mechanic's liens were filed yesterday against F. M. Swanzy by Constance Sterling for $957.48 and by The A. Harrison Mill Co. for $3,906.26.

Judge De Bolt yesterday granted a new trial in the case of Lum Sing vs.
Mrs. Marion Luning Hoyt. The motion was based on the alleged negligence of F. W. Hankey, attorney for the defendant, whom Mrs. Hoyt says deceived her, and gave her to understand that he had effected a settlement.

Judge Gear has not dismissed the Williams divorce case finally, but has given time for the bringing in of more evidence. He held that the case had not been proven as to two of the charges.

Judge De Bolt has ordered the dismissal of the suit of Lucy K. Peabody vs. H. R. Macfarlane et al., as to Macfarlane and J. M. Dowsett.

The case of T. R. Mossman vs. Bishop Museum Trustees has been dismissed because of improper service.

Exceptions on appeal have been allowed by Judge De Bolt from his decision in the case of Lyle A. Dickey vs.
Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co.

The closing exercises of Kawaiahao Seminary will take place on Thursday, June 4th, at nine-thirty (9:30) o'clock
a. m. At the close of the program, Captain Berger's band will play in the school grounds. Woven work, cake and ice cream will be on sale.

A great many people want long, heavy hair, but how to get it, that is what puzzles them. The fact is, the hair needs a little help now and then.
The roots require feeding.
When the hair is starved, it stops growing, loses its lustre, falls out, turns gray. Ayer's Hair Vigor is a hair-help. It makes the hair grow, stops it from falling, and completely cures dandruff.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

If your hair is fading or turning gray, begin at once with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It will positively restore color to your gray hair, all the full, rich color it had in early life.

As a hair-dressing you will certainly like it, for it keeps the hair soft and glossy and prevents it from splitting at the ends.

Do not be deceived by cheap imitations which will only disappoint you.
Make sure that you get the genuine
Ayer's Hair Vigor.

It nourishes and keeps up the strength during those periods when the appetite fails and food cannot be digested. To avoid imitations and substitutions, this "trade mark" is put on every bottle of "Wampole's Preparation," and without it none is genuine. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. Taken before meals it creates an appetite, aids digestion, renews vital power, drives out disease germs, makes the blood rich, red and full of constructive elements and gives back to the pleasures and labors of the world many who had abandoned hope. Dr. S. H. McCoy, of Canada, says: "I testify with pleasure to its unlimited usefulness as a tissue builder." Its curative powers can always be relied upon. It makes a new era in medicine and represents the best medical advice of the twentieth century. Effective from the first dose. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by all chemists the world over.

GEORGE W. OUTCALT*How He Extricated Himself From a Serious Difficulty.

How George W. Outcalt, a well known merchant of Wellston, Oklahoma, recently succeeded in extricating himself from a serious difficulty is one of the interesting stories now going the rounds of the papers.

"I had been working very hard," he says in telling the story. "For a long time I had given almost every moment of my attention to my business and I did not notice what effect this was having on me. But, finally, I saw that my health was giving way—I was getting thin, was always tired and easily out of breath; my blood was poor, my stomach bad. Every now and then I would be dizzy and any little exertion would exhaust me completely. In short, I was all run-down.

"Then one day I saw an advertisement which led me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They acted like magic. I felt better in a few days. My flesh came back till I regained my normal weight, my appetite returned and my general health is now better than it had been for many years. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to many of my friends and am glad of this opportunity to tell what the remedy has done for me."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People did for Mr. Outcalt they will do for others similarly afflicted. They are different from ordinary medicine because they act directly on the blood and nerves. They have cured stubborn cases of locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions and all forms of weakness either in male or female. If you are sick and your doctor cannot cure you, write us and we will tell you honestly and frankly whether Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are suited for your case. We will not recommend the pills in cases which we do not believe they will cure.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale people are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, fifty cents a box, or six boxes for two dollars and fifty cents (they are never sold in bulk or by the hundred) by addressing Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

IS JUDGE KALUA DISQUALIFIED?

Maui is to have an interesting term of court beginning Wednesday morning. The criminal calendar is the largest for years and some of the cases will be highly interesting.

S. Ahmi, a wealthy Chinese resident of Wailuku, is to be put on trial on the charge of obstructing justice, in attempting to bribe a policeman to permit gambling games to be run. There is promise of sensations in the case for Judge Kalua has said that he was charged with accepting a bribe in another case, in which Ahmi is concerned. What will probably lend some excitement to the trial is an affidavit which Special Deputy Rawlins will file in court, asking that the case be transferred to some other judge, because of the alleged disqualification of Kalua. In this affidavit it is alleged that Kalua is interested with the defendant Ahmi in a number of business enterprises, among them taro planting and the new telephone company.

Judge Kalua will also have to pass on the case of Okana, who is charged with bribery, and there are also three cases of first degree burglary.

One of the most interesting trials will be that of Neau, who is charged with kidnapping. She is said to be an old witch and was convicted and fined in the district court. It is alleged that she caused the death of two men, father and son, by praying. The father was ill first and called in Neau and though she sacrificed pigs and sundry other things, he died. A son went the same way, and then the widow had her arrested. As a defense the woman said she had done her best for the two men whom she had been called upon to treat, but their sins had been of such magnitude that she could do nothing. They had, she said, caused the death of the favorite cat of her granddaughter and for that offense there was no help.

KAUAI ARRANGES LOAN BILL LIST

COMMERCIAL NEWS

EDWARD M. BOYD.

Swelling deposits, easier payments of notes and overdrafts, combine to give the bankers of the community a rosier view of affairs. There seems to be other integers in the advancing prosperity than the mere payment of the fire claims, too, for the dividends are coming in well and the plantations which will not contribute their share to the general prosperity of the community will be few.

But even with these brighter aspects from the side of the bankers, there appears a little cloud for them which has for the business man a silver, or rather a golden, lining. The report is almost too good to be true in the opinion of the merchant and man who has to use the banks, but such as it is it is here given. Details I cannot get, but the rumor had its foundation with one of the most prominent of the city's financiers, who is in constant communication with the Coast. As the story goes: The International Banking Corporation, with head office in New York, and already branches in the Orient and on the Pacific Coast, is going to follow the cable, and establish branches in this city and in Manila. The reason for this is apparent. The corporation was formed with some of the best known and wealthiest of the New York bankers at its head, for the purpose of becoming a factor in the trade relations of the Orient with the United States. When it was determined to cut into the business the corporation secured from the Chartered Bank its Oriental manager, at a large price, and he in turn took from the various branches of that institution some of its oldest and best clerks and managers. With this managerial equipment the concern went into business in the various cities of China and Japan. A branch was placed in San Francisco, which has been developing a good business there, at the expense of the established financial institutions. It was there for business. It got a share of it. Rates were cut right and left, and there was a general system of lower exchange, of interest on daily balances and other trade compelling features introduced. The bank has worked up a fair Oriental business, and it is understood that it will come here for the same sort of trade, of course, having an eye on the Oriental exchange, which its connections should make profitable at lower rates.

As indicating that there may be other things, it is reported as well, amid the gossip of the mainland, that the Guaranteed Trust Company of New York, has decided that it will enter the Orient for business, and perhaps there may be attracted some attention to this city, at least by the managers who must pass through on the way out.

FIRE CLAIMS BEING PAID.

The payment of the Fire Claims, in the face of the fact that the procuring of two witnesses by each of the claimants, goes along well. The Chinese are collecting their money rapidly, there being already about one third of the cash put into circulation, and the prospect that the remainder will be put out as rapidly.

The bonds are not coming into the banks rapidly as yet. The price is now a standard one of 90, and some of the largest of the claimants have made agreements and turned over to the banks their claims, which in turn will be given to the government upon the receipt of the bonds. For convenience and safety Col. Fisher has prepared a special form of warrant, so that when he issues his demand on the Treasurer there will be no doubt as to what the claimant is to receive. The two officials will act in unison, so that there will be no delays or misunderstandings. It is the intention of the banks to act in the same harmony so that there promises to be speedy action on the bonds, as well as on the cash.

KONA SALE AND ACTION.

The published report from Hawaii that Judge Edings had refused to confirm the sale of the Kona plantation is not understood by those interested, owing to the fact that the case was set for yesterday, but would have to be postponed on account of the holiday. R. W. Shingle is now there to look after the interests of the purchasers, as there is a strong belief that Judge Edings will ratify the sale.

No one in authority will give out anything about the plans of those who are the real purchasers, but it is safe to say that at a meeting held on Friday by the backers of the organization, there was reached an understanding which will see the sale of the plantation. It is now planned to make the change complete. The mauka lands will be surrendered to the lessors, the lower acreage being retained for cane, and large additions being made. This will reduce the plantation to a business basis at least, and it is said that the owners of the land will be ready to sign new leases at low rates and assist in the reworking of the plantation. There are said to be men with money ready to advance a sum sufficient to put the estate on its feet if these changes are made, but seeing is believing, in the minds of many who have heretofore pinned faith to the sugar belt of the south side.

ON THE LOCAL MARKET.

The local shares market has been without incident lately, owing in entirety to the fact that investors have kept out of the buying. There is money at hand, plenty of it in town, but few people think it time to buy, as they have so many other things on hand. The record for the month of May shows only 673 shares transferred. The prices were practically without range. The sales of Ewa led, being almost half the transaction, M'Byrde being next. Wailua, two and a half points, Rapid Transit five points and O. R. & L. Co., two and a half points constitute the advances for the month.

Forty Wailua at $50 and 10 Oahu at $104 constitute the sales for the week. The prices showing no change. Of Kahuku bonds $12,000 at par and of Railroad bonds, $1,000 at $104.50, made the market.

The month brought out several dividend notices. In the list appear Honoum and Onamea, which pay 1 per cent. The former will pay this rate for five months and the latter for seven, according to the announcements, and it is likely that there will be others in the list very soon. Waimanalo had been expected to do more, but it is said unofficially that there may be some changes for betterments which will prevent this for the present. The list is: C. Brewer & Co., 1 per cent; Ewa Plantation, 1/2 per cent; Honoum, 1 per cent; Onamea (S. F. June 5), 1 per cent; Waimanalo, 1 per cent; Inter Island S. N. Co., 1 per cent; Hawaiian Electric Co., 1/2 per cent.

The directors of Brewer & Company have issued a statement to those holders of shares which were contemplated to be combined in the Hawaiian Securities Company, in which is announced the indefinite postponement of the plan. This is due largely to the fact that the New York money market has been advancing since the plan was proposed, in addition to which there are other conditions, if this one is not enough.

The type made me make a peculiar error last week, which being twice wrong could not make a right. As to the Oahu crop the estimate was 25,000 tons in stead of 15,000, of which some 15,000 tons had been taken off. The great yield of this plantation has put the whole outlook in such shape that no one would be surprised if 15,000 tons more are taken off, or a crop of between 30,000 and 21,000 tons.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

There is an indication in the course of the inquiry which is being made that the Manoa section may experience a second spurt, if the new road is cut through opening sea view lands. There have been several persons who are looking at lots in that section recently. The same is true of Kaimuki, where the prospect of Rapid Transit has done much to stimulate activity.

The Kapoli Estate has moved into its new building, and several of the second floor offices of the Young Building have been let and occupied. The O'Neill block will be used this week.

The Odd Fellows are still considering their structure. J. F. C. Higgins, of the Fertilizer Works, has purchased two lots at the Peninsula and is improving the place. It lies on the Ewa side.

It is reported that Col. Parker will build on the Hatch lot in Pensacola street when it is turned over to him. Several new places on Tantalus have been completed recently.

The Hawaii Loses Boat.

While the S. S. Hawaii was taking sugar at Papaikou on Tuesday one of her boats was upset by a heavy swell and carried into a cave in the rocks. One of the sailors was badly injured by being struck by the boat. He was given first aid to the injured by Captain Dower and one of the men and afterwards brought into Hilo for treatment by a physician. The boat that was washed into the cave came out in bits about two hours after the accident.—Hilo Herald.

New Oriental Line.

TACOMA (Wash.), May 19.—The Dollar Steamship Company of San Francisco has arranged to maintain a regular steamship service between Puget sound and Oriental ports. The service has been started with two steamers taking experimental cargoes. These were the steamship Arab, which recently sailed from Tacoma for China with a cargo of lumber; the steamer Stanley Dollar sailed from Portland about the same time with a cargo of flour and lumber for Port Arthur. Both steamers will return here in July or August to load flour, lumber and general freight for Oriental ports.

The announcement that the line will be permanent was made today by H. F. Alexander, president of the Commercial Dock Company, which has been appointed agent at Tacoma for the Dollar line. Alexander returned today from San Francisco, where he conferred with the Dollar Company regarding the service to be maintained. No bid will be made at present for the heavy passenger travel, the object of the company being to become an established factor in the transpacific freight traffic.

CUTICURA SOAP.

MILLIONS use CUTICURA SOAP exclusively for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chafings, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes, for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially to mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odours. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, the best skin and complexion soap, the best toilet and best baby soap in the world.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S*CHLORODYNE

IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

Coughs, Colds, Asthma and Bronchitis.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE—Vice Chancellor SIR W. PAGE WOOD stated publicly in court that DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the INVENTOR of CHLORODYNE; that the whole story of the defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to. See the Times, July 18, 1884.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is a liquid medicine which assuages PAIN of EVERY KIND, affords a calm, refreshing sleep WITHOUT HEADACHE, and INVIGORATES the nervous system when exhausted. IS THE GREAT SPECIFIC FOR CHOLERA, DYSENTERY and DIARRHOEA.

The General Board of Health, London, reports that it ACTS as a CHARM; one dose generally sufficient.

Dr. Gibbon, Army Medical Staff, Calcutta, states: "Two doses completely cured me of diarrhoea."

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is the true palliative in NEURALGIA, GOUT, CANCER, TOOTHACHE, RHEUMATISM.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE rapidly cuts short all attacks of EPILEPSY, SPASMS, COLIC, PALPITATION, HYSTERIA.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.—The immense sale of this Remedy has given rise to many Unscrupulous Imitations.

LEGISLATURE MAY FINISH NEXT WEEK

Some members of the Legislature believe that with hard work it will be possible to end the session next week. They point to the fact that the Senate has its work well up, and that the only thing that remains to be done is to pass through the House the salaries, the loan and eighteen months' expense bills.

The unpaid bills measure is practically through with, the only delay being on certain items which members are working to force into the bill. Some consideration has been given to the six months' salary bill and it probably will be finished today.

The Senate will go on with the eighteen months' current bill and probably will end it tomorrow, and the loan bill is in such shape that the House should dispose of the matter with one day's work. Harmonious action progresses and there is no reason to believe that next week and early in it too, will not see the end of the session.

Crying for Help

Lots of it in Honolulu But Daily Growing Less.

Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble. It is the kidneys' first cry for help. Heed it.

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are what is wanted. Are just what overworked kidneys need.

They strengthen and invigorate the kidney; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

Read the proof from a Honolulu citizen.

Mr. Charles Comey, of Cyclometer street, this city, one of the many persons who have tried Doan's Backache Kidney Pills with great advantage, relates his experience thus: "I have been a back driver for a number of years past and this is an occupation in which, through exposure to weather and much jumping up and down from the vehicle, one is particularly liable to kidney complaint. I suffered myself from a lame back for a long while, and in my anxiety to get rid of it tried several things which did not reach the root of my trouble. An advertisement acquainted me with what grand work Doan's Backache Kidney Pills were doing, and I got some of them at the Hollister Drug Co.'s store. I used them and with very much profit, for they relieved my back wonderfully."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers or sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

BREWER & CO.
WIN CASE

poses, under Section 820, C. L., and that when so valued the value of the combined property or unit may be much greater than the sum of the values of the several items forming the unit. In other words, that the value of the whole (the combined property) may be greater than the sum of the values of all of its parts.

"From this proposition it follows as a necessary deduction that by whatever sum the value of the unit or whole enterprise exceeds the sum of the values of its several parts to that extent intangible property is valued for taxation under this statute and to that extent Section 820 provides for and creates a new and distinct class of property for taxation purposes, namely, intangible property, a class of property not included in real estate as defined in Section 818, or personal property as defined in Section 819. It can make no material difference so far as this proposition is concerned whether the increased value results from intangible elements in tangible property or from intangible property altogether."

In this latter connection he quotes at length from the Federal Supreme Court's decision in Adams Express Co. vs. Ohio, the following being passages from the citation:

"The burden of the contention of the express companies is that they have within the limits of the State certain tangible property, such as horses, wagons, etc.; that that tangible property is their only property within the State; that it must be valued as other like property, and upon such valuation alone can taxes be assessed and levied against them."

"But this contention practically ignores the existence of intangible property, or at least denies its liability for taxation. In the complex civilization of today a large portion of the wealth of a community consists in intangible property, and there is nothing in the nature of things or in the limitations of the Federal Constitution which restrains a State from taxing at its real value such intangible property."

As an illustration the Federal Court supposes the case of A selling B certain property for $100,000, and holds that though not contained in a written instrument there exists a legal promise on the part of B to pay A $100,000, proceeding:

"That promise is a part of A's property. It is something of value, something on which he will receive cash, and which he can sell in the markets of the community for cash. It is as certainly property, and property of value, as if it were a building or a steamboat, and is as justly subject to taxation. It matters not in what this intangible property consists—whether privileges, corporate franchises, contracts or obligations. . . . To ignore this intangible property, or to hold that it is not subject to taxation at its accepted value, is to eliminate from the reach of the taxing power a large portion of the wealth of the country." Justice Galbraith takes issue with the majority in the exclusive construction of their decision, maintaining contrarily that the latest word of the Legislature does not indicate an intention to restrict the use of the words real and personal property in Section 820 with-in the definitions given prior to its enactment. He contends that the situs of California stocks and bonds, held by Brewer's, for taxation purposes follows that of the owner and is in this Territory and should be taxed here.

Upon the holding of the majority that the evidence shows no value of plantation agency contracts, although it was in proof that the commission realized from these contracts by the taxpayer in 1901 amounted to $91,110, the dissenting Justice employs this almost caustic language:

"It may be admitted that the evidence does not offer as satisfactory data as might be desired for measuring the value of these contracts. But who is to blame for this? The facts were in the possession of the taxpayer. It was its duty to give them to the assessor or to the Tax Appeal Court. It did not do so. I submit that it is not in the interest of the 'accomplishment of justice' to give to this taxpayer a premium for withholding information. In other words, to hold that certain of its property, which we know is subject to taxation, exempt from taxation for the reason that the taxpayer failed to furnish exact evidence for fixing the value of the property, especially since there is evidence from which a valuation may be placed on this property."

In conclusion Justice Galbraith is "convinced that the ends of justice would be subserved by the affirmance of the judgment of the Tax Appeal Court."

Shipping Notes.

Fine weather on Kauai.
The launch Talula is on the marine railway undergoing repairs.

The steamer Mikahala reports that the barkentine Hawaii has 27,500 bags of sugar on board at Elele.

The steamer Nihau is loading at Punaluu and rough weather is reported from both that point and Hamakua.

The Mauna Loa has her smokestack dismantled and is now undergoing thorough repairs in the Bishop Estate dock. It will probably be a couple of months before she is again placed on her old run.

Whaler Hits Rough Weather.

Captain Kaula of the schooner Julia Whalen is making a record for bravery, while storm bound in the rough harbor at Punaluu. One day this week a man fell overboard and would have been lost, but the doughty captain plunged in and rescued him. Wednesday the Whalen's shore boat was dashed on the rocks and rendered unseaworthy. No substitute boat could be found in the harbor. The captain therefore swam to and from his vessel which was half a mile off shore. No carpenter could be found on that side to make repairs, so one was sent over from Hilo yesterday. The water has been very rough at Punaluu all the week and the Whalen was unable to discharge rapidly.—Hilo Tribune.

HOUSE CUTS THE SALARIES OF MEN IN LAW OFFICE

Crabbe, under a vote to that end, appointed Senators Isenberg, Achi and J. T. Brown as Senate conferees.

HOUSE EXPENSE BILL.

Vice President Paris in the chair. The Senate bill appropriating $13,000 for the expenses of the House of Representatives in the extra session came up in order for third reading. On motion of Senator Achi it was set aside and the House bill of the same tenor taken up.

Senator McCandless referred to the fact that the original bill, vetoed by the Governor, had been cut from $20,000 to $18,000 by the Senate. That was for both unpaid bills of the regular session and expenses of the extra session. Now a bill was pending with $7,000 for unpaid bills, which with the one under consideration restored the House expense appropriations to $20,000. He moved that the amount in this bill be $9,000 and called for the ayes and noes.

Vice President Paris ruled that the larger amount should be put first, when on a show of hands the bill passed second reading at $13,000.

Senator Dickey's bill appropriating $4,000 to the Treasury department for incidentals of the Tax bureau until June 30, 1903, passed third reading by the unanimous ayes, 14. Senator Wilcox being the only absentee.

THE BAND ATTACKED.

Senator Dickey presented a minority report, signed by himself, of the special committee to separate Territorial from County items in the eighteen months' appropriation bill. It approved of the report of the majority previously given so far as that went, but recommended that the item of $1,500 for incidentals Government band be stricken out. The expense should be borne by the County of Oahu, or better still by the voluntary contributions of citizens of Honolulu. It was held by the minority that the support of the band should be in the same category as sprinkling the streets of Honolulu, etc., and as an attraction to tourists it was on a par with the electric cars. If a request were made by Souza's band for support from the State of New York, it would raise such a breeze that the proposition would speedily be withdrawn.

On motion of Senator Isenberg, the report was laid on the table to be considered with the bill.

EIGHTEEN MONTHS' APPROPRIATIONS.
President Crabbe resuming the chair, Senate bill No. 9 making special appropriations for the departmental use of the Territory during the period commencing with January 1, 1904, and ending with June 30, 1905, was resumed on second reading.

Agreeable to the recommendations of the special committee on separation of items, the following were stricken out as belonging to the counties: Expenses First Circuit Court, $28,250; of Second Circuit Court, $6,000; of Third Circuit Court, $3,750; of Fourth Circuit Court, $7,500; of Fifth Circuit Court, $6,000; traveling expenses district magistrates, $375; traveling expenses judge and clerk Second Circuit, if terms are continued at Lahaina, $225; traveling expenses judge and clerk Third Circuit $150; traveling expenses judge and clerk Fourth Circuit, if terms are continued at Honokaa, $225; coroners' inquests, $4,500; expenses of witnesses in criminal cases, $6,000; repairs court houses, jails, etc., all islands, $4,000; expenses steam tug, $15,000; electric light Honolulu, $18,000; maintenance and repair, Tantalus road, $2,250; running expenses, market, $750; running expenses, laundries, $8,250; curbing and paving Government sidewalks, $6,000; constructing sidewalks, $18,750; Government pounds and maintenance, $750; running expenses, sewers pumping station, $19,500; maintenance sewer system, Honolulu, $2,250. The total of these items is $156,470. Besides the items of $9,575 for incidentals Tax bureau and $1,350 for incidentals bureau of Conveyances, inserted on a previous consideration, went by the board.

OTHER CHANGES.

On motion of Senator Achi, the item of $84,000 for support and maintenance of prisoners was reduced to $54,000, and that of $28,800 for civil and criminal incidentals to $25,000.
Senator Achi had the item of $10,800 for Honolulu Park Commission raised to $18,000 in accordance with previous action following a visit of the Legislature to Kapiolani park.
President Crabbe called attention to an item struck out of the six months' bill, to pay for superintendence of construction of the new Reform school buildings at Waialeale. That was a mistake. Two experienced builders performed the service, saving several thousand dollars. The item should be inserted at $6,000.
Surprise was expressed by different members to learn that the work had been done before the appropriation was asked, and after conversation it was agreed that an effort should be made to have the House insert the item in appropriations for unpaid bills.

AGRICULTURAL ITEMS.

The item reading $1,500 for incidentals of Forestry, including buildings, fencing and tree propagation, was made $15,000 as the tenth part of that was clearly a typographical error.
The Farmers' Institute was granted $225 for its expenses.
The Agricultural appropriations amounted as passed to $41,600, of which $7,500 is added to the Federal Experiment Station.

A typographical error was corrected when the item of $1,200 for field and office work of the Survey department was made $37,500.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Senator Baldwin having suggested that the item of $172,500 for segregation, support and treatment of lepers be referred to the special committee that reported on Board of Health items in the six months' bill, the suggestion was adopted with the amendment by Senator Isenberg that all of the items in the Health department go to the same committee.

BAND RUNS GAUNTLET.

Senator Isenberg, on the item of $1,800 for incidentals, etc., of band, referred to Senator Dickey's minority report of special committee. He understood that the band had now enlisted under the Federal militia law.

Senator Baldwin said if the band was not to go to the other islands, its expenses should not be paid by the Territory. He did not agree altogether with the minority report, for the band's playing off ocean steamers was not purely a local service and besides the band played for the pleasure of visitors from the other islands at the departure of inter-island steamers. If, however, they of the other islands could not have the band when they wanted it, he should vote to make it a county charge.

Senator Paris considered the counties should pay for their own bands. Even if the band should go to Hilo for a day or two, or to Kohala—though he did not know it ever went to Kohala—the Territory was paying too dearly for it.

Senator Achi tried to reduce the objections to an absurdity by asking if the County of Oahu should pay the salaries of the Governor, the Treasurer and the Attorney General because they stayed in Honolulu most of the time.

Senator J. T. Brown favored the county idea.

Senator Cecil Brown held that, as the band had enlisted, something ought to be done for its support. (Senator Baldwin—"Or else strike it out.") "Or else strike it out," the speaker echoed. "The band will be under the command of the Governor and the counties will have nothing to do with it."

Senator Isenberg related that he had been taking a lesson from one of the band boys that morning, who informed him the band had enlisted for three years.

Senator Dickey remarked that Senator Isenberg appeared to be an interested party, hence could not vote.

Apparently the rural Solons were prepared to swing the snickersee upon the band's neck, but the crisis was deferred by referring the item to a special committee composed of Senators Isenberg, Woods and C. Brown.

WHARVES AND HARBORS.

Senator McCandless moved to insert $150,000 for repairs to wharves, Honolulu.

Senator Dickey was without support in proposing to refer the motion to a special committee.

Senator Baldwin thought it should be "general" instead of Honolulu. Some Maui wharves needed repairs. The suggestion was adopted and the item was inserted.

Senator McCandless then moved to insert $100,000 for dredging Honolulu harbor. After remarks in native without interpretation, by Senator J. T. Brown, the county rose in its might and voted, 7 to 6, against the item.

Senator Cecil Brown moved $50,000 and Senator Isenberg $75,000, and the larger item being first put carried.

The declaratory sections of the bill were referred to the Judiciary committee to report amendments in conformity with the County Act.

JUDGE KALUA'S CLAIM.

Senator Paris presented a report of the Public Expenditures committee on the claim of John W. Kalua for $1,326 on his palai contract with the Board of Health. They had interviewed the petitioner and the president of the Board of Health, and found that the question involved the legal construction of a contract. They recommended that, if the parties could not agree, the matter should be regarded as one for the courts rather than the Legislature.

Adopted.

CONSTITUTIONAL POINT.

A communication from the House of Representatives transmitted a joint resolution for the appointment of a joint committee to visit the Leper Settlement, in connection with a bacteriological examination of certain persons there confined.

Senator Cecil Brown raised the point of order that the resolution was not competent at the extra session. If there was an appropriation involved, it might be regular.

Senator Baldwin supported the point but maintained that an incidental appropriation would not cure the matter. The main object was not an appropriation but a visitation. It might be a good object, but did not come within the scope of an extra session.

Senator Paris said joint resolutions were passed at former extra sessions and signed by the Governor.

Senator Kaohi agreed with the previous speaker. They had referred all Board of Health items to a special committee, which might accompany the Board and doctors on a visit it was proposed to make.

President Crabbe had consulted the Governor on the question and was hence prepared summarily to rule the point well taken. The resolution was out of order.

No question was raised on the decision of the chair.
